FRENCH WHITE ZINC PAINT

FROM THE
VIEILLE MONTAGNE COMPANY OF PARIS.

THIS Paint is adapted to all purposes to which the best White Lead is applicable. It does not turn yellow, as lead invariably does, and will acquire the hardness and smoothness of Coach paneling without the aid of varnish, and is easily washed. Colors with a zinc basis retain their freshness and brilliancy of color.

200 pounds will cover as much surface, with the same body, as 250 pounds of lead—showing great economy as well as beauty.

In order that parties may depend upon getting the article strictly pure they should buy of none but the most respectable houses. The Company ship but two qualities, known as No. 1 and Snow White Dry. Red and Green Seal. The No. 1 or Red Seal is the article most used for painting purposes, the Snow White or Green Seal being only used for the most expensive work.
JOSEPH M. STRONG, Agent for the Co.

Orders addressed to either of the following houses will be filled at the new reduced tariff of prices, either Dry or in Oil.

MEDICAL.

JOHN BULL'S

COMPOUND PECTORAL OF Wild Cherry!

THE SEAL OF PUBLIC APPROBATION HAS BEEN so unmistakably fixed upon this Medicine that the proprietor feels it to be his duty to call the attention of all those persons to it who are suffering from, or threatened with, affections of the lungs or throat. Its basis is the active principle of the Wild Cherry Bark, but it contains also, in proper proportions, other of the most efficient pectorals of the MATERIA MEDICA. Its component parts and proportions are well known to physicians everywhere, as the proprietor makes no secret of them, and they have met the universal approbation of the faculty, who, as a general thing, prefer using this preparation to any prescription which they can have prepared by a druggist.

It can be procured from druggists and country stores everywhere.

MRS. WINSLOW,

An experienced Nurse and Female Physician, presents to the attention of mothers her

SOOTHING SYRUP,
For Children Teething,

which greatly facilitates the process of teething by softening the gums, reducing all inflammation—will allay ALL PAIN and spasmodic action, and is

SURE TO REGULATE THE BOWELS.

Depend upon it, mothers, it will give rest to yourselves, and

RELIEF AND HEALTH TO YOUR INFANTS.

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup.

We have put up and sold this article for over ten years, AND CAN SAY, IN CONFIDENCE AND TRUTH of it, what we have never been able to say of any other medicine—NEVER HAS IT FAILED, IN A SINGLE INSTANCE, TO EFFECT A CURE when timely used. Never did we know an instance of dissatisfaction by any one who used it. On the contrary, all are delighted with its operations, and speak in terms of highest commendation of its magical effects and medical virtues. We speak in this matter "WHAT WE DO KNOW," after ten years' experience, AND PLEDGE OUR REPUTATION FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF WHAT WE HERE DECLARE. In almost every instance where the infant is suffering from pain and exhaustion, relief will be found in fifteen or twenty minutes after the syrup is administered.

This valuable preparation is the prescription of one of the most EXPERIENCED and SKILLFUL NURSES in New England, and has been used with NEVER-FAILING SUCCESS in THOUSANDS OF CASES.

It not only relieves the child from pain, but invigorates the stomach and bowels, corrects acidity, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. It will almost instantly relieve GRIPING IN THE BOWELS, AND WIND COLIC, and overcome convulsions, which, if not speedily remedied, end in death. We believe it the BEST AND SUREST REMEDY IN THE WORLD in all cases of DYSENTERY AND DIARRHEA IN CHILDREN, whether it arises from teething, or from any other cause. We would say to every mother who has a child suffering from any of the foregoing complaints—DO NOT LET YOUR PREJUDICES NOR THE PREJUDICES OF OTHERS stand between your suffering child and the relief that will be SURE—yes, ABSOLUTELY SURE—to follow the use of this medicine, if timely used. Full directions for using will accompany each bottle. None genuine unless the fac simile of CURTIS & PERKINS, New York, is on the outside wrapper.

Sold by Druggists throughout the world. Principal office No. 13 Cedar st., New York. Price 25 cents.

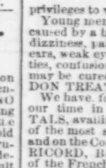
PRIVATE MEDICAL TREATISE ON THE PHYSIOLOGICAL VIEW OF MARRIAGE.

250 Pages and 180 Fine Plain and Colored Lithographs.

PRICE ONLY TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Sent free of postage to all parts of the Union.



ON the infirmities of youth and maturity, disclosing the secret follies of both sexes of all ages, causing debility, nervousness, depression of spirits, palpitation of the heart, suicidal imaginations, involuntary blushings, defective memory, indigestion, and lassitude, &c., comprising 250 pages, and illustrated with upwards of one hundred and thirty engravings. It is a truthful adviser to the married and those contemplating marriage, who entertain secret doubts of their physical condition, and who are conscious of having hazarded the health, happiness, and privileges to which every human being is entitled.

Young men who are troubled with weakness, generally caused by a bad habit in youth, the effects of which are dizziness, pains, forgetfulness, sometimes a ringing in the ears, weak eyes, weakness of the back and lower extremities, confusion of ideas, loss of memory, with melancholy, may be cured by the author's NEW PARIS AND LONDON TREATMENT.

We have, for the greater part of the past year, devoted our time in VISITING THE EUROPEAN HOSPITALS, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most skilled Physicians and Surgeons in Europe and on the Continent—such men as CIVIALE, LENOIRE, RICORD, BRECHETEAU, ACTON, and CURLINGS of the French and English hospitals. Our tour extended through France, Italy, Germany, Holland, England, Ireland, Scotland, and Wales, visiting in our route the principal Hospitals in Paris, London, Rome, Venice, Vienna, Dresden, Berlin, &c., &c. We have been amply repaid by the additional knowledge we have acquired in the treatment of various diseases to which we have directed our attention. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many NEW AND EFFICIENT REMEDIES which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured of the same zeal, assiduity, SECRECY, and attention being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore, as a Physician in our PECULIAR department of professional practice.

EFFERVESCENT
SELTZER APERIENT.

This valuable and popular Medicine, prepared in conformity with the analysis of the waters of the celebrated Seltzer Springs, in Germany, in a most convenient and portable form, has universally received the most favorable recommendations of the Medical Profession and a Discerning Public, as the

MOST EFFICIENT AND AGREEABLE

in use, and as being entitled to special preference over the many Mineral Spring waters, Seidlitz Powders, and other similar articles, both from its compactness and greater efficacy. It may be used with the best effect in all

BILIOUS AND FEBRILE DISEASES, SICK HEADACHE, LOSS OF APPETITE, INDIGESTION, AND ALL SIMILAR COMPLAINTS, PECULIARLY INCIDENT TO THE SPRING AND SUMMER SEASONS.

It is particularly adapted to the wants of Travelers by Sea and Land, Residents in Hot Climates, Persons of Sedentary Habits, Invalids, and Convalescents; Captains of Vessels and Planters will find it a valuable addition to their Medicine Chests.

With those who have used it, it has high favor and is deemed indispensable.

IN A TORPID STATE OF THE LIVER—It renders great service in restoring healthy action.

IN GOUT AND RHEUMATISM—It gives the best satisfaction, allaying all inflammatory symptoms, and in many cases effectually curing those afflicted.

ITS SUCCESS IN CASES OF GRAVEL, INDIGESTION, HEARTBURN, AND COSTIVENESS—Proves it to be a Medicine of the greatest utility.

ACIDITY OF THE STOMACH, AND THE DISTRESSING SICKNESS SO USUAL DURING PREGNANCY—Yields speedily, and with marked success under its healthful influence.

IT AFFORDS THE GREATEST RELIEF TO THOSE AFFLICTED WITH OR SUBJECT TO THE PILES—ACTING gently on the bowels, neutralizing all irritating secretions, and thereby removing all inflammatory tendencies.

IN FACT, IT IS INVALUABLE IN ALL CASES WHERE A GENTLE APERIENT OR PURGATIVE IS REQUIRED.

It is in the form of a Powder, carefully put up in bottles, to keep in any climate, and merely requires water poured upon it to produce a delightful effervescent beverage.

Taken in the morning, it never interferes with the avocations of the day, acting gently on the system, restoring the digestive powers, exciting a healthy and vigorous tone of the stomach, and creating an elasticity of mind and flow of spirits which give zest to every enjoyment. It also enables the invalid to enjoy many luxuries with impunity, from which he must otherwise be debarred, and without which life is irksome and distressing.

Numerous testimonials from professional and other gentlemen of the highest standing throughout the country, and its steadily increasing popularity for a series of years, strongly guarantee its efficacy and valuable character, and commend it to the favorable notice of an intelligent public.

NEW ORLEANS MEDICAL NOTICE.

DR. LEROY'S MIXTURE FOR THE PROMPT AND CERTAIN CURE OF ALL URETHRAL DISEASES, AND THOSE AFFECTIONS SOLELY—TO THE PUBLIC.—Seventeen years' trial of this Mixture in an extensive practice in New Orleans has fully tested its powers and removed those prejudices which physicians and the public generally have against an advertised medicine by its invariable success in all Urethral Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Chronic Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Spasmodic Strictures, Neuralgia of the Bladder and Urethra, Affection of the Kidneys, Incontinence of the Urine, Whites, &c.

It would be well in obstinate cases of Gonorrhœa and Gleet to use in conjunction with the Mixture our CAMPHORATED BELLADONNA INJECTION. Price 50 cents.

TAKE NOTICE.—As in all uncomplicated cases ONE BOTTLE of DR. LE ROY'S MIXTURE suffices to effect a permanent cure, in from three to eight days, assisted, if necessary, by a vial of the Belladonna Injection, the cost of getting promptly cured of a disagreeable and often dangerous malady is trifling.

This Mixture is not an empirical remedy, a "cure all," but is compounded by a physician and prescribed solely for Urethral Affections.

It is entirely vegetable, not nauseous, and can be used with perfect safety, confidence, and ease, as it does not affect the breath, requires but little change in diet, and no restriction from business, which has rendered it very popular both with the public and medical men.

Persons afflicted are strongly recommended to give it a trial, when its prompt effect will convince them of its efficacy.

PRICE PER BOTTLE $3.

CAUTION.—Recollect the genuine article is liquid. Every French label has the written signature of LeRoy, M. D., Paris, on it, and every English label has the fac simile signature of

THE particular attention of Painters, Dealers, and others is called to the new PATENT METHOD of putting up LEAD and ZINC PAINTS in METALLIC CANS, of which MASURY & WHITON are the Sole Proprietors.

These Cans are intended by the inventor to obviate the difficulty heretofore existing in the putting up of Lead and Zinc in small kegs. All consumers of paint are aware that the loss on Lead and Zinc, put up in small wooden packages, is from five to ten per cent., and in many cases much more, owing to the absorption of the oil, and the consequent hardening of the paint against the wood—to say nothing of the additional labor required to mix paint ready for use after it has become hard in the keg. The loss of the keg, too, is a consideration which should not be lost sight of. The Patent Can not only obviates these difficulties, but in addition thereto furnishes the consumer with a strong and convenient paint-pot, out of which to use the paint, which is alone worth more than the difference of cost between the cans and kegs.

The Cans are packed in saw-dust, in strong cases or boxes, which contain 200 pounds each, that is 8 25-pound Cans, or 4 50-pound Cans, and they may be safely shipped by rail or otherwise to any part of the United States.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

MASON AND DIXON'S LINE.—"Mason and Dixon's Line" has become a phrase of almost constant occurrence in every discussion of questions of slavery and of the respective rights of "the North" on the one hand, and "the South" on the other. Yet, comparatively few of those who so flippantly make use of the significant words have any just understanding of what "Mason and Dixon's Line" actually means. They use it as a convenient expression, to distinguish the boundaries of free and slave territories, without considering whether it be a regularly marked geographical "line," fixed and designated by monuments, courses, and distances, or merely an imaginary term of distinction between the slave holding and non-slave-holding States of this Union. We propose to show, by a brief historical review, that it is simply a geographical boundary line, originally marked out without any reference to the peculiar institution of the South.

In June, 1632, King Charles I granted to Cecilius Calvert, Lord Baltimore, all that tract of land lying between a certain bound on the south "unto that part of Delaware Bay, on the north, which lieth under the fortieth degree of north latitude," thence "in a right line, by the degree aforesaid, to the true meridian of the first fountain of the river Potomac, &c."

On the 4th of March, 1681, thereafter, Charles II granted unto "our trusty and well beloved subject, William Penn, Esquire, all that tract or part of land in America, with the islands thereunto contained, as the same is bounded on the east by the Delaware river, from twelve miles northward of New Castle, unto the northern boundary, extending eastward five degrees in longitude, and to be bounded on the south by a circle drawn at twelve miles distance from New Castle, northward and eastward unto the beginning of the fortieth degree of northern latitude, and then by the straight line westward to the limits of the longitude above mentioned."

Here, then, we have, side by side, the two grants to Lord Baltimore and William Penn, of what were afterwards to be the States of Maryland and Pennsylvania. But, by an examination of the map, we will discover that the two grants are inconsistent—a most apparent confusion existing in regard to the division line between the two. For whilst the 12 mile circle drawn from New Castle was to extend "unto the beginning of the 40th degree of northern latitude," it is found impossible for it to reach that line at all, it being more than that far distant. And again: it was claimed by the advocates of Penn, that as his northern boundary, which was designated as "unto the three and fortieth degree of north latitude" only carried him to the line 42 deg., so his southern boundary "unto the beginning of the 40th deg." should carry him down to where the territorial span embraced in the 40th deg. begun—to-wit, to the line of 39 deg.

But it was alike impossible to make the twelve mile circle reach this line, being south of Newcastle some fifty miles. Here, then, was fruitful grounds for one of those most perplexing and troublesome controversies that can arise between adjacent land-holding neighbors—a controversy about boundaries. Accordingly it ensued, and in this confusion we have the trivial origin of the renowned "Mason & Dixon's line."

What was the cause of the confusion in the description of these contiguous boundaries? It all lies in the fact that, at the time these two grants were made (1632 and 1681), the line 40 deg. crossed the Delaware nearly at—a little below—where Newcastle is, as the maps then in existence had it fixed. It is said that the map on the authority of which the boundaries of the grants were made was one published by the celebrated Captain Smith, and that erroneously fixed the line where we have stated.

As may well have been expected, great animosities and strife sprung up between the colonists of the contending proprietors. This continued for many years without any thing like an effectual settlement of the vexed question. Robbery and arson, and even murder, were frequent occurrences all along the disputed border. At last, in May, 1732, impelled more by necessity than anything else, Richard Penn and Charles Calvert (successors of William Penn and Lord Baltimore, who, in the meantime, had died) entered into a written agreement for the settlement of their disputes. The stipulations of the agreement were: a circular line was to be run twelve miles distant from Newcastle; then go down to Cape Henlopen, and from its ocean point run a line due west to Chesapeake Bay; find the middle point of this line, and run another line thence northward, so as to be a tangent to the twelve mile circle on its western verge; from the tangent point run a line due north until it comes to a point fifteen miles south of the latitude of the southern part of the city of Philadelphia; thence by a due line west to the western boundary of Pennsylvania.

Commissioners from both territories were jointly to run and mark the lines, and it was agreed that a failure in a punctual attendance by either party should forfeit the agreement. They met and entered upon their work, but one day the Penn party arriving a little behind time, the Marylanders declared the agreement at an end.

The Penns then applied to the English Chancery for relief. One suit after another followed, without much apparent advancement toward a settlement, when, at last, litigation was cut short by a compromise, entered into by the parties, dated July 4, 1760. This put an end to the harassing and troublesome feuds and animosities and settled forever the claims of the disputants. It was, in fact, nothing more than a ratification or reaffirmance of the agreement of 1732, a synopsis of which we gave above. The agreement provided for a joint commission to ascertain, run out, and mark the lines. In November of the same year (1760) the commissioners, seven from each proprietary, met at New Castle and entered upon operations. Three years were spent by the commissioners to very little purpose, when the proprietors, becoming impatient at the want of progress of the commissioners (for we suspect they were not masters of the science of mensuration or surveying as it is at the present day), had them removed, and the two men, Mason and Dixon, whose names have become famous, appointed in their stead. In November, 1763, they began operations. But we leave the history of the prosecution of their work for another day.

Jeremiah Mason and Charles Dixon were two astronomers of considerable distinction, residents of London. In August, 1763, they were employed by the Penns and Lord Baltimore, to run the line between. Arrived in Philadelphia in November, furnished with the best instruments and accoutrements for their undertaking, they set about it at once. First, they established an observatory in Philadelphia for the ascertainment of the true latitude. They then find the southern line of the limits of that city; this line they extend far enough west to be due north of the tangent point on the circular line around New Castle; thence south 15 miles, and they then have gained the true latitude of the great east and west line between the two proprietaries. They then repair to the tangent point, which is still south of the main line (appears by an examination of the map) and measure due north till they come to the main line. Here, at the intersection of the two lines, they plant the corner stone, which is the beginning of Mason and Dixon's line! It is located in a deep ravine, near a spring. Some years ago, we are informed, the stone, having been undermined by floods, was taken by a farmer who lived near and applied to the less dignified yet more utilitarian purpose of a chimney piece. It has since, we believe, been replaced by another.

But to return to our history. The principal starting point being ascertained, the great labor of the undertaking begins. It required a large number of assistants and employees to carry on the work—such as chain carriers, air-men, cooks, baggage-men, and other servants. In the fall of 1765, they had reached a point 95 miles west of the Susquehanna. They resume again the following spring, and on the 4th of June they are on the top of Little Alleghany mountains, 160 miles from the beginning of their line. Here they were arrested in their westward course. The Indians, through whose hitherto unmolested grounds they were penetrating, grew jealous and refused to allow them to proceed. Chagrined with disappointment (for they were pleased and zealous in the undertaking), they take up the backward march. The Germans of the two States, however, joined in obtaining a grand council of the Indians, at which they were successful in receiving permission to proceed with the work.

Accordingly it was resumed in the summer of 1767. In a short time they arrived at the western limit of Maryland, and here it might be supposed they would stop, since beyond that Maryland was no longer concerned. But such was not the case. They still pushed on, led by the enthusiastic London astronomers and followed by a mixed retinue, in a due line west. No doubt they considered their task to be to fix not only the division line between the two proprietaries, but the entire southern line of Pennsylvania, which was to extend to a point five degrees of longitude west of the Delaware, and that point had not yet been reached.

Troubles now began to attend their progress. Like Columbus's sailors, their numerous employees began to grow restless, just when the consummation of their ambition was so near at hand. The surrounding Indians became fierce and troublesome, and on the 27th of September, when encamped on the banks of the Monongahela, twenty-six of their laborers deserted them. Not discouraged, they sent back to Fort Cumberland for new ones to supply the deserters' places, and in the meantime pushed on with such as were with them. At last they arrived at where the old Catawba warpath crosses the line, at the second crossing of Dunkard creek, in Monongahela county, Va., and here their western course is finally stopped. Thus we have seen the beginning of Mason & Dixon's line, and here we see, so far as it is connected with the names, Mason & Dixon, its termination. But whilst the line run by them ends here, the entire southern boundary line of Pennsylvania, even after it passes beyond where Mason & Dixon stopped to the base of our Pan Handle, usually receives their name, though the extension part is clearly not entitled to it.

The line was afterwards extended from the stopping point at Dunkard's Creek by joint commissioners appointed by the States of Virginia and Pennsylvania, who, on the 18th day of November, 1785 made their report. (See Code of Virginia, p. 50, 53.)

The length of the line from the beginning to the Dunkard Creek stopping point was 244 miles, 113 perches, and 7½ feet. The entire line as extended is 266 miles, 99 and one-fifth perches. Mason and Dixon had computed it to be 267 miles, and 159 and six tenth perches; but in this calculation there was a trifling error of about one and a third miles.

The whole history of this line is an interesting one; not only on account of the thrilling adventures of the men marking and measuring so extensive a line, through the heart of an immense savage wilderness (though a wilderness of unsurpassed wealth and beauty) but it is also interesting on account of the harrassing and pertinacious conflicts in which it had its origin. It is also interesting because of the quasi political signification that has been given by hackneyed and careless usage to the phrase "Mason & Dixon's line." We leave the subject now, promising that at some future day we will take up the not less interesting subject of the difficulties growing out of the Boundary Controversy between Pennsylvania and Virginia.

This is the language—it is rather personal—which the famous Victor Hugo holds in reference to Napoleon's amnesty: "Nobody will expect from me that I grant, in what concerns myself, a moment of attention to the thing called an amnesty. As France is now situated, a protest absolute, inflexible, and eternal, is my duty. Faithful to the engagement which I made in my conscience, I will share to the last the exile of liberty. When liberty returns, I will return."

A Righteous Bequest—$100,000 Given for the Education of the Poor.—A Georgia paper says: "The late M. A. Bowder left, by his will, the sum of one hundred thousand dollars to the Glenville College and Military Institute. The interest on this large sum is to be applied to the payment of professors' salaries, and the education of poor boys. This is, we believe, one of the largest bequests ever made to any one institution in the country.

Gen. Jackson's old horse is dead at last, at the age of forty-one years. For several years he has been unable to masticate, and was fed with bran, &c. The defunct carcass of this famous old horse was interred with all due solemnities, "in presence of a large concourse of his old friends."

Bulwer's health is entirely restored. He spent the summer at Knebworth, but is about leaving for the continent and possibly for Egypt and the East. He is occupied upon a historical novel, which was begun nearly ten years since. His hearing is much impaired by his recent illness.

We have received from an Illinois correspondent a communication in regard to an offer, a year or so ago in our paper, of five hundred dollars for a satisfactory demonstration that wheat would turn to chess. In reply to his inquiry, we would say, that we do not now recollect that we made such an offer and are too much engaged to examine our files. Such an offer might be made by any one with perfect safety, but our benevolent nature, that would avoid giving any one unnecessary trouble or expense in attempting to prove what is simply an absurdity, admonishes us to advise the improvement of the time, that would necessarily be spent in the attempted demonstration, to the destruction of chess seed. We do not wish to seem discourteous in our reply to our Bloomington friend, and would suggest that, if he is determined to make the experiment of transmutation, he will no doubt find his State Board of Agriculture willing to reward his success. If he will visit us before he begins we will show him as intimate a connection between an oak and sweet gum as he will ever find between wheat and chess.

The following remarks are made by an Englishman who was one of the judges of short horn cattle at one of their fairs; it gives us much pleasure to chronicle the dawning of such independence, and we sincerely hope that it may extend to this country, where premiums are awarded to breeding cattle, on account of the fat they carry—it is a growing evil, notwithstanding the disapprobation with which the very best judges of cattle view it. Let there be a reform inaugurated in Kentucky in this matter, and the result will be beneficial:

"I am now going," he said, "to advert to a subject which has already been introduced. It is a growing evil, and one that ought to be put a stop to, the exhibiting on these occasions stock that have been artificially brought to an unnatural size, only for the purpose of getting prizes. It is an injury both to the public and the breeder; because such animals seldom breed, and if they do, they rarely produce good stock. I believe the remedy is in the hands of the committees who appoint the judges. You know full well that on many occasions there is placed in the hands of judges a rule that they should not award prizes to stock in an unfit state for breeding. The question is, do they adhere to that? I say not. Invariably this question is entirely overlooked, because they who have the management of these societies consider that if they were to carry out this rule they would injure the show, as such and such fat stock from certain breeders would not be exhibited. But I contend it would not be so. Carry out that rule, and you would find that these societies would have much more beneficial effect than they have now. You would find those gentlemen who declined to exhibit would soon return, and would exhibit their cattle in a natural state. Further than that, there are many who now refuse to exhibit very good stock, because they know that on these occasions the prizes are awarded, not to the most skillful breeders, but, very often, to the most extravagant feeders."

The Mark Lane Express, alluding to these remarks, well observes: "Our readers know how long this has been our own argument, and how thoroughly it is justified. It is this over-feeding that brings prize stock into such disrepute—that lands them in America and the colonies dear bargains and barren butchers' beasts. It is this that tends to all the humbug and secrets in the management of a herd, where one set of animals are kept for use and another for show. It is this that deters so many good men from ever exhibiting at all. The remedy, however, rests clearly with the judges. No matter how ready the stewards or the council may be to pass over the abuse, let them only act up to, and speak out like Mr. Phillips, and they may soon do a deal of good. Never mind what interested people may say who have dairy cows too fat to give milk, or bulls too pampered to get stock. If they are fit to be judges at all, they can estimate fairly-fed animals as correctly as they can the over-fed. And a man who prizes a beast at a breeding show chiefly because it is made up for a Christmas one, is simply sanctioning an absurdity, a contradiction, and a delusion—if not a dishonesty."

SMALL EXPERIMENTS.—The reports of small agricultural experiments have of late been subject to ridicule, and while good was no doubt intended, and the effect may be to cause more care in the details and nicer calculations as to the results, we fear the evil has been greater than the good, in causing many to withhold valuable facts from the press. A farmer grows the Chinese Sugar Cane on a few rods of ground, and makes a little syrup by the aid of the kitchen stove; another devotes a small patch to carrots, or ruta bagas, or corn fodder, gives especial attention to the culture, and raises an extraordinary crop. From this he calculates the cost of cultivating an acre, the product, and the profit of the operation. This is not, of course, as satisfactory as though the experiment was made on a larger scale, but if made with strict honesty, and with care, we know not why it may not tell a true tale. If the extent and condition of the soil, the manure, time employed in culture, &c., are stated, and the crop carefully measured, we know not why this may not prove a valuable experiment. If 150 bushels of carrots are raised on one eighth of an acre, at a cost of six cents a bushel, we know not why 1,200 bushels could not be grown on an acre, by the same treatment, at the same cost, or a trifle less. We see no propriety of casting ridicule upon such experiments as "fancy."

A farmer not long since exhibited to us a fine field of corn which he was growing for fodder. Last year he had made the experiment on a small scale, and raised so large a crop that he was now mainly depending on it for winter fodder. Another had grown at the rate of 1,600 bushels of carrots to the acre, but both had neglected to state the facts, lest they might be subject to censure or ridicule for giving the results of "pocket handkerchief" experiments.

In this country we must have the result of small experiments or none—for we have no experimental farm, nor have we, as in Europe, men of leisure and means which they are willing to devote to the development of great agricultural truths. Few farmers are able or willing to make experiments, the failure of which would involve pecuniary loss. Experiments, even when successful, are not usually profitable to those who make them.

We know of experiments with different varieties of guano, the present year, made with so much care, that, whatever may be the result, the crop will not pay for the time and money expended in the trial. The same is true of other experiments, of which we hope to give a good account at the close of the present season.

In the experiments made and reported, there has been, no doubt, too much haste and too little care—too much jumping at conclusions. But an experiment, even though not reliable in all respects, is better than nothing, as it excites interest, makes the question one of thought and discussion among practical men; and finally those who believe, as well as those who doubt, are led to make the trial, to prove or disprove the theory or the facts, and thus knowledge is increased. While admitting this, however, we urge upon all the necessity of exactness in operations designed to teach facts, for upon its exactness more than upon its extent the value of the experiment depends. The truth, and the whole truth, should be given; then may we learn useful and important lessons.—Rural New Yorker.

LOUISVILLE.

FRIDAY, SEPT. 16, 1859.

☞ It cannot be denied that Senator Douglas, and those who cooperated with him in the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the bringing about the Kansas-Nebraska bill, re-opened the flood-gates of slavery agitation. The interests of the South have gained nothing of stability from the disturbance of the compromise finality of 1850; on the contrary, though fortified apparently by the judicial proceedings in the Dred Scott case, they have actually suffered detriment. We feel that all the territorial possessions of the Union are now lost to the South, because we cannot send many emigrants and can send but few slaves there, our labor being needed to supply the wants of the old Southern States, while the North is receiving, on its seaboard, constant accessions of population by foreign immigration, that invariably find their way to the frontier and locate on the public lands. These people are averse to slavery as an institution from early prejudices and inculcations; and constituting, as they do, a second and entirely different grade of labor from the African, they deem it for their interest to keep slavery away from their new Western homes. This Mr. Douglas knows of course, and hence it is, that, while he proclaims himself a national Democrat, he promulgates principles which are as sectional and anti-slavery as ever emanated from Wendell Phillips or Lloyd Garrison. Where Southern party papers support his Presidential pretensions, they are compelled to impose upon the credulity of their readers to defend their position. In this spirit, the Memphis Appeal writes as follows to tell us "how the Union is to be dissolved"—it might as well tell us how to avoid an earthquake which may happen. The argument of the Appeal is like the grief of the unsophisticated girl who fell to crying because she might sometime in the future have a husband, and they might have a baby, and the cherub might fall into a tub of scalding water and kill itself. But hear the Memphis Douglas organ, how it tries to raise the dust of disunion in order to conceal its own aggressive movements upon the constitutional rights of the South:

> "If Seward or any other Black Republican is elected President in 1860, I am in favor of dissolving the Union and setting up a Southern Confederacy." This is the language of a Southern extremist, and straightway he moves off in favor of a Congressional Slave Code for the Territories, reopening of the African slave trade, denunciation of Douglas as a traitor, and such other propositions as are sure to bring about the election of a Black Republican, for the simple reason that he plants himself on such an ultra platform that no Northern State will stand upon it. Let us adopt such a policy as that, and even with the united South we cannot carry a single Northern State, and a Black Republican is sure to be elected, because the North overrides the South in numerical strength.
> Those who take extreme positions know these facts very well, and they are only endeavoring to bring about such a state of things as will insure the election of a Black Republican. This is the reason why they have deserted the principle of the Kansas bill, which they all supported. They hope for the election of a Black Republican (as is evidenced by the extreme positions they take), in order that dissolution may follow. We advise the people to watch all such politicians closely, as there is no sane man in the South who can point to a single good reason, under the present state of public affairs, why the Union should be dissolved, or why the South should be discontented or dissatisfied. For thirty years the South lived under the odious restriction of the Missouri Compromise, and in the meantime said very little about dissolution. This odious restriction has been removed, mainly through and by the power and influence of Mr. Douglas, and the South has been placed on an equal footing in the Territories with the other portions of the Union. Ought we not rather rejoice than complain of this? We think we ought; and when the North talks of re-establishing this odious line, it will then be time enough to harbor the idea of disunion.

The kernel of this nut is easily reached. When you strip its shell off, it means that Douglas must be President, or Democracy suffer defeat. Whoever denies this, is set down by the Appeal as a "Southern extremist," in favor of a Congressional slave code and the reopening of the African slave trade. Douglas is the only panacea, and, from his past record, the Appeal would have us take him on credit for the future. It extols him for having repealed the Missouri Compromise, and says, that he placed the South on an equal footing in the Territories with the other portions of the Union. This is not so; the South has lost all possible chance of obtaining further slave representation from additional States coming into the Union, and this was the real game of Douglas in destroying the compromises of 1850. He is the representative man of Northwestern Freesoil Democracy, and of the large alien population averse to slavery which is increasing in a greater ratio than any other portion of the Union, and, under the next census, will wield a controlling influence in the electoral college. When Douglas made his Illinois canvass last Fall, he never intended to do more than secure his return to the United States Senate until the year 1865—his representative term expiring with the executive term of Mr. Buchanan's successor. He had no Presidential aspirations for 1860, but Mr. Lincoln coerced him into a position which compelled him to take a step in advance at Freeport, and enunciate his squatter-sovereignty doctrines in all their loathsomeness. The severe attack on these in the Senate last winter forced him into an elaborate defense of his position, which was then regarded by all the Southern Senators as antagonistical to the South, and is yet denounced by the Southern Democratic leaders as the nearest cross-cut to Abolitionism. Since the adjournment of Congress, Mr. Douglas sees that he has precipitated the denouement of his game, and is now playing it out boldly, like a skillful political gamester as he is. A few months ago, he was no candidate for the Presidency; now he is making a stump canvass for the Charleston nomination, and is toiling for it with all the ardor of his impetuous nature.

Can the South shut its doors of reason in the face of these facts, and reject the clear convictions to be fairly deduced from the conduct of Mr. Douglas? Can it be deceived by the sophisms of the Memphis Appeal, when it plays the demagogue by saying, that, when the North talks of re-establishing the Missouri line, it will be time enough to harbor the idea of disunion. Intelligent men in the South now see and acknowledge the error of its repeal, and are beginning to be convinced that Douglas was urged to it by the most selfish purposes of personal advancement. It was of course his intention to conciliate the Southern Democracy by conceding the candidate to them in 1860, on the ground that Pierce in 1852 and Buchanan in 1856 were from the North, and quietly bide his time in 1864. But man proposed, and chance has disposed of the whole scheme—disposed of it abruptly, but not too much so perhaps, if Douglas can find enough Southern journals, like the Appeal, to aid in the little-giant swindle of their section and its surrender to the growing anti-slavery sentiment of the North. The Appeal charges that those who take the extreme position, by reason of their having deserted the principle of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, are endeavoring to bring about the election of a Black Republican President. Mr. Buchanan, Gov. Wise, Senators Hunter, Mason, Jeff. Davis, and Gwin accuse Mr. Douglas of "paltering in a double sense" with that principle, while Douglas himself, Governors Walker and Stanton, Hickman, Haskin, the anti-Nebraska Democrats of Illinois, Forney, &c., denounce Buchanan's course as the grossest treachery to the vital principle of that bill. And yet all claim to be National on the subject of slavery, at the very time these incongruous and irreconcilable conflicts of sentiment are waged among them. And then, to cap the climax of imposture and absurdity, Mr. Douglas, in his electioneering tour through Ohio, speaks at Columbus and Cincinnati without a single deferential reference to the Dred Scott decision. Why? He knows that that decision—the adjudicated supreme law of the land, above all acts of Congress, of Territorial Legislatures, and of partizan platforms—puts a veto on his doctrine of Non-Invention and his heresy of Squatter Sovereignty. Will the Memphis Appeal pass this significant fact around to its deluded readers?

☞ The Courier says that Mr. Douglas "bolted the Democratic party on Lecompton." That word "bolted" is an equivocal one. Does our neighbor mean that Douglas left the Democratic party, or that he swallowed it?

☞ The Democrat complains because a very able and we think a perfectly successful and triumphant reply, in the Washington Constitution, to Douglas's Harper article, is anonymous. We can't see that this makes any difference. What can a name or the want of a name have to do with the conclusiveness or inconclusiveness of the argument?

Douglas's article probably puzzled some minds a little at first, but there is nobody that can't reply to it now.

☞ The Oxford (Miss.) Mercury explains the reason why Douglas chose Harper's Magazine as the vehicle for disseminating his late patent right specification of popular sovereignty. It says: "The Southern press having long since ceased to publish the speeches and letters of the Illinois Senator, because his views are no longer in consonance with theirs, he avails himself of the universal circulation of that professedly neutral magazine in the South to disseminate his views upon the government of our Territories."

☞ The Courier thinks there is a secret political association in Kentucky, got up to promote the election of Mr. Douglas. If there is we confidently expect the editor of the Courier to join it. He joined every secret political association that we ever heard of in Kentucky.

☞ Whilst Mr. Douglas was speaking from the platform of the cars at Lawrenceburg the other day, the cars suddenly started and carried him off, speech and all. That's the impolitest railroad we ever heard of in our lives.

OFFICIAL SWINDLING IN UTAH.—We have already given, with comments, a telegraphic dispatch from St. Louis referring to the late immense frauds perpetrated at Camp Floyd under the auspices of the Federal Administration for the benefit of its especial partisan favorites and accomplices. As a further exposition of those infamous transactions, we publish the subjoined letters from Camp Floyd, addressed to the St. Louis Democrat. The letters are from a thoroughly reliable source. The writer is a member elect of the Utah Legislature and a gentleman of unquestionably high character.

We ask the whole people of the United States to look at and ponder and weigh well the facts here stated. Such facts, so startling, so disgraceful, so utterly without even the shadow of excuse, certainly afford occasion for deep and painful and indignant reflection and stern resolve. The country may here see specimens of the transactions, by which, under the present Administration, the treasury has been exhausted, the country plunged into debt, and the expenditures of the Government run up to probably a hundred millions per year. When swindlings, like those laid bare by the correspondent of the St. Louis paper, are perpetrated at the expense of the national treasury for the benefit of partisan agents, nothing under heaven can be expected but national bankruptcy and national shame—the loss of money, credit, and character.

Whenever the extravagant and wasteful expenditures of the Administration are exposed and rebuked by the Opposition press, the stipendiary organs of the Democracy are in the habit of replying that Opposition members of Congress have generally given their votes in favor of such appropriation bills as have passed. Unquestionably Opposition members have voted for the appropriations to prosecute the Utah war. In determining how to vote, they have necessarily had to rely in a great measure upon the estimates made by the departments. Of course they have not possessed the private and personal knowledge requisite for an enlightened decision as to the amount of money needed for transporting an army to Utah, supplying it with the munitions of war, sustaining it in camp in a distant land, and enabling it to prosecute hostilities. They have had to depend, as we said, upon the official estimates and to vote for the appropriations called for or else incur the risk of withholding the means absolutely necessary to the support of the troops and the maintenance of the honor of the country, and expose themselves to popular denunciation as factionists and traitors.

As a general rule, patriotic members of Congress of all parties, when the country is engaged in war, even war upon a small scale, will vote the appropriations officially called for, unless, as can rarely happen, they have perfectly satisfactory knowledge that the appropriations are not needed and are wanted only for illegitimate and corrupt purposes. An administration will of course usually obtain what it asks for the conduct of a war, and then, if it prove to have got the money under false and swindling pretences, if it sacrifice by corrupt contracts, as has been done at Camp Floyd and elsewhere, hundreds of thousands and millions of the public funds to reward party favorites and promote party objects, it richly deserves the punishment which the laws of the land prescribe for less powerful and less successful swindles.

One of the very worst indications, as we have repeatedly had occasion to say, is, that, no matter how atrocious the transactions of the Government may be, or how clearly their atrocity may be revealed to the eyes of the whole nation, the Democracy of the country never utter, through their presses, or through Congress or State Legislatures or political conventions, a word of condemnation or even of faint disapproval. When the most revolting corruptions were proved during the last session of Congress beyond all possibility of doubt or question, when the most prominent friends of the President were proved, by documents under their own hands, to have engaged regularly in the work of getting jobs and contracts through the departments upon the express condition of being allowed to share the plunder, and when the President himself was shown, by a written document under his own hand, to have interfered with the Navy Department to have an important contract given to a partisan, at a heavy sacrifice of the Government interest, for the express and expressed purpose of securing the election of a Democrat to Congress, none of the Democratic leaders or editors in the nation had the virtue to open their mouths or wag their pens in condemnation or complaint. No, no, the whole of them either kept strict silence or shamelessly and brazenly proclaimed that only truth and justice and fairness and economy bore sway in the national councils.

When the people see, as they may now see, what sort of doings are going on in Utah and elsewhere under the sanction of the Administration, we think they will also see, as we do, the importance of such an organization of the next House of Representatives as shall secure the appointment of committees, which, instead of devoting themselves, like the committees of the last House, to the work of covering up the Administration's corruptions, will fearlessly and resolutely lay them bare to the eyes of mankind. Who, that is not steeped in Locofocoism from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet, can, after looking at the partial developments of the Camp Floyd frauds, hesitate to demand, in behalf of the country, an Opposition organization of the next House?

Let there be such an organization, and the world will "see sights." Locofocoism will be buried far enough beneath the surface to be consumed by earth's central flames.

Here are the letters of the St. Louis Democrat's Utah correspondent:

CAMP FLOYD, Aug. 3, 1859.

In answer to my letter exposing the flour contract, I notice in your columns a telegraphic dispatch from Washington, saying that the statements made in that letter were false, and that one hundred thousand dollars had been saved to the government.

Facts and figures always speak for themselves, and, to prove that my assertions were true, I need no better proof than the fact that the same contract for which Messrs. Holliday & Co. receive $28 60 per 100 lbs. was refused Mr. William Martin at $12 per 100 lbs, and is now being filled by Messrs. Berneisel & Young at $7 50 per 100 lbs., they being sub-contractors. If the knowledge of these bids were had at Washington City—and I am credibly informed by the Commissary at this point that they were—why did the Secretary of War award the contract to Messrs. Holliday & Co?

The assertion that $100,000 were saved to the Government over the contract of last year is no excuse, when five hundred thousand dollars could have been saved by accepting the bid of Mr. Wm. Martin, or by the acceptance of Mr. Little's bid of $8 per 100 a still larger sum could have been saved. Such is a true statement of facts, and if the Secretary of War can, by a mere denial of the charge, escape the suspicion of collusion with the contractors, I am satisfied, but I am constrained to believe that he will not so easily escape the indignation of an outraged people.

In my next I shall endeavor to give you an exposition of Mr. Holliday's transactions at the great mule sale, which I think will arouse the people of the States to a knowledge of the manner in which they are constantly being defrauded by the Government officials.

M. O. C.

CAMP FLOYD, August 8.

In my last I promised to give you some of the particulars of the manner in which the great mule sale was conducted. After the arrival of Mr. Holliday and the development of the fraud perpetrated upon the Government by the contract for the furnishing of flour to the army in Utah, it was whispered around that developments would be made in a few days that would startle us still more than the flour contract.

At length an advertisement appeared in the columns of the Valley Tan, announcing the sale at public auction of two thousand more mules. This, as may be supposed, set the people of the Territory on the qui vive, and many a good dollar that had lain for years hidden from the light of day was brought forth for the purpose of purchasing teams. As the day of sale approached, rumors were thick that Mr. Holliday was to be the purchaser of the mules. An order had been received from the Secretary of War to the Quartermaster General of this department, stating that Mr. Holliday's notes were to be received as cash for all purchases that he might make. The auctioneer, it is said, received secret instructions to "knock down" all mules to Mr. H. when they had reached a certain figure. So strictly was the rule enforced that much remark was made by outsiders, and one of the auctioneers refused to have any further connection with the matter. Upon these terms Mr. Holliday became the purchaser of over one thousand mules, valued at about $175,000, but for which he gave his notes to the value of about $100,000. These mules could have been sold to residents of this Territory for cash, for the sum first stated, but Mr. H. gets them on credit at a little more than half their value.

I have authority for stating that Mr. H. has a contract to supply the Government at Fort Dallas, in Oregon, with one thousand mules, at his own price. Now many thousand dollars could have been saved had Government sent these mules to that point on its own hook. Twenty herders would have delivered them at that point at a small cost, just the same that it would cost them at this post; but no, they must sell them at a reduced price to Mr. Holliday, and let him drive them there and sell them back to the Government at a large advance. Would it not have been fully as well to have given Mr. Holliday sixty or a hundred thousand dollars to drive them to Oregon at once? Even this would have saved the Government several thousand dollars paid as auctioneer's fees. Could I get at the bottom of this trick, it would cause the people of the entire country to open their eyes and raise their voice en masse against so flagrant an outrage.

I have still another fraud to expose, and am now engaged in hunting up facts. It will be called the "beef swindle." Holliday & Co. are again the lucky fellows that are destined to grow fat and saucy by sucking the Utah teat.

After these things are fully exposed, I shall turn my attention to things nearer home, and rake a certain Colonel and a certain Captain "over the coals." I have now in my possession facts sufficient to cause them both to be removed, and, as I have commenced to use the knout, I shall continue till every rascally proceeding in this part of the country is exposed.

M. O. C.

The Covington Journal says that at a caucus of prominent Democrats, assembled at Frankfort on the 30th ult., it was decided to throw overboard Stephen A. Douglas and his squatter sovereignty. —Courier.

Do you hear that, neighbor of the Democrat? What will you do about it? If the Little Giant is to be pitched overboard, will you not, with a romantic devotion, adjust a bladder to your shoulders and a cork to your nose and leap after him into the seething billows? Or will you be satisfied to toss a hen coop after him and say: "Here! seize hold of that, old fellow, and take care of yourself, and may the good Lord save you from the sharks and devil-fish."

2. E. H. Webster.
3. J. M. Harris.
4. H. Winter Davis.
5. H. W. Hoffman.
6. A. B. Hagner.

☞ Gen. Joe Lane of Oregon is the man who was "hid away in a quiet sequestered spot" by the Memphis Avalanche, to bring out as a Presidential candidate at the proper time. The people of Oregon have "hid away" Lane's late associate Delazon Smith, and will at the proper time find a cool, sequestered, retiring spot for the General also.

[From the N. O. Picayune.]

THE NEGOTIATIONS AT VERA CRUZ.—Since our last summing up of the results of the late mission to Mexico we have been put in possession of a full and complete statement of what was actually done at Vera Cruz—a running history, as it were, of the whole negotiation from the beginning, its progress day by day, and its not unexpected conclusion. And here in the outstart we are happy to have it in our power to say that Mr. McLane asked for nothing more than was necessary to the protection of American interests in Mexico, and therein authoritatively to contradict a thousand and one rumors which have gotten into circulation on the subject, much to the detriment of the mission. He asked for the sale of no territory, nor was he instructed or authorized to do so; he proposed no loan to the Constitutional Government for the purpose of carrying on the civil war—a proposition equally absurd—nor did he in any way interfere or propose to interfere in the internal affairs of the country. As an American citizen, highly prizing with us all the political liberty we enjoy, he, naturally enough, felt glad at the opportunity to manifest in an authoritative manner his sympathies with that portion of the Mexican people which he saw engaged in a long and arduous struggle for their national independence. But, as a representative of the United States, he had no authority, expressed or implied, to go further.

No more did Mr. McLane propose to confine himself to the beaten track of those who had preceded him. Anxious above all things that his mission should result in some real, substantial profit to his country and to the world, he first set about informing himself what were our real interests in Mexico, and how they could best be subserved. This ascertained, he proceeded at once, and with that frank, courteous manner which characterizes him, and which at once gave him the confidence of the Government to which he was accredited, to the work. He asked:

1. The right of way for a railroad, through the Northern States of the Republic, from some point on the Rio Grande, to be afterwards determined, to the port of Mazatlan, on the Pacific.

2. The right of way for a railroad, to be constructed equally by Americans and American capital, from the southern boundary of the territory of Arizonia, the port of Guaymas on the Gulf of California.

3. The right freely to navigate the waters of the Gulf of California at the western termini of these routes, as also the free use of other ports necessary for the entry of goods therein.

4. The right to erect such warehouses as might be necessary for the accommodation of business therein at both termini of these as also of the Tehuantepec transit route.

5. The right to transport United States troops and munitions of war over all of these routes, to or from the Pacific at certain times and on certain conditions.

6. The right, in case Mexico herself failed to do so, ourselves to give protection to each and all these great transit routes, in such manner as might seem to us fit, even to the introduction of United States troops, if found necessary.

A single glance at these propositions, or set of propositions, shows the breadth and scope of the Minister's mind and how great was the work he proposed to accomplish for his country. Each and all of them are of the highest public importance, and yet, as will clearly appear, none of them, either taken singly or collectively, is of any value whatever without the last. Of what value, for instance, would be the right of way through the State of Sonora, out of which a peaceable surveying party has just been driven, or through the Apache Indian country, or, indeed, through any part of Mexico, without the right to protect it by force of arms, if necessary? And yet this is precisely what the Juarez government, in its folly, peremptorily refused to grant. We say, "in its folly," for while in all probability there would never have been the necessity, under such a stipulation, to introduce United States troops into Mexico, it would have given such strength and stability to the Constitutional government itself that it would not only have secured its ultimate triumph, but have given some hope for the final pacification of the country.

And this the Juarez Cabinet immediately saw themselves, as also they must have seen the impossibility of their extending of themselves adequate protection to American interests in the country; but Mexican pride was too much for Mexican common sense. And here, as illustrating the peculiar character and ideas of this singular people, we cannot refrain from alluding to a curious episode of the negotiation. Some days after everything had come to a dead lock at Vera Cruz on the very point alluded to above, the Minister was surprised at the receipt of an imposing document which might easily have passed for a State paper direct from the Abbe Sieyes's drawer. Nor did its appearance belie it. It cut the Gordian knot at once, settled with the shake of a pen the whole difficulty between the two countries. It was in effect what it was entitled, "A treaty of Alliance between the Republics of the United States and Mexico," in which, after a good deal of Abbe Sieyes theorizing and Fourth of July eloquence about the mission of the two great republics of the New World, and the necessity of acting in unison the better to resist the encroachments of European despotism, it proposed an alliance, offensive and defensive, between the two countries, by virtue of which we were to receive all the benefits of Mexican civilization, and the protection of Mexican arms, if necessary, in return for the same protection to them!

But to return and to conclude, the whole negotiation came to a dead-lock, and thus far has proved a failure on the simple question of protection to American interests. Mr. McLane saw very clearly there was no use of enlarging the field of American enterprise in Mexico, that indeed there would be a positive wrong in encouraging it without the concurrent right of protection. And this became only the more necessary from the evident and confessed inability of the Juarez Government at least to afford it. He chose, therefore, to do nothing at all rather than to lend the authority of his name to anything so imperfect as would be the set of propositions he made without the ratification of the last. And right glad are we for one that he took this view of the matter, and that he had the courage to act up to his convictions at a time when the whole country was anxiously awaiting something from his hands. It is high time that something more than vague diplomatic papers pass between this country and Mexico. We want no more of them. What we want is well defined rights and privileges—privileges which we ask in the name of the commerce and civilization of the world, and the concurrent right of protecting them in case Mexico herself fails to do so. With this only, at least, will the country be satisfied.

To the Editors of the Louisville Journal:

MESSRS. EDITORS: I observe in your Journal an acknowledgment of the receipt of some very large apples presented to you by a gentleman residing in Indiana. These courtesies from fruit-growers and florists to the editors of newspapers, and especially to those who are most earnest in diffusing a taste for the cultivation of fruits and flowers, are highly commendable and should be more generally practiced. It may seem a very little thing to send a basket of apples or peaches or other fruit or a bouquet of fresh cut flowers to an editor, and so it is; but the recipient of such a gift values the good will that prompts the act far more than he would the most desirable present that could be sent. By the practice of these amenities and courtesies, not only are good-will and kindliness of feeling fostered and cherished, but the cultivators of fruits and flowers are directly benefited by the publication of such varieties and kinds as have been most successfully cultivated, and are therefore the most worthy of attention. Thus, too, the editorial sanctum can be made, as it were, an exhibition room for the display of horticultural products, and the editors themselves will constitute the "fruit committee" to report upon the quality of the specimens exhibited. But all the benefit to be derived from this suggestion would be lost if the fruits exhibited were incorrectly named. For instance, the apples from our brother pomologist of Indiana, and which I suppose are the Gloria Mundi, are named to you as the Newtown pippin, which must be a mistake, as the Newtown pippin is a winter fruit not fit to eat until after January and seldom in its prime before April.

I have a number of the trees that have borne fruit every year since 1854, and when all other kinds failed two years since, these trees produced their usual crop, of which I had the pleasure of sending to your esteemed selves a basket full the latter part of the following May.

Now, in order to test whether the Indiana apples are Newtown Pippins, I send you with this some of the genuine fruit, which you will observe are only half matured, small, and as hard as rocks. Notwithstanding their unripe condition, you will find, on tasting them, that they have the rich and unequalled flavor that makes the Newtown Pippin the apple of apples!

Now, after getting you to taste a sour, green apple, and setting your teeth on edge, I do not wish to be so mean as to let the matter rest there, but while your editorial "mouths are watering" and your "hands are in" on the fruit committee, permit me to present to you a few choice specimens, now fully ripe, of the magnificent FALL PIPPIN, measuring 12½ inches around, and glowing like "nuggets of California gold." Lest, however, some of your Indiana or Kentucky friends will beat me on apples, notwithstanding I throw in a few Rambos on account of their sprightly flavor, and which are the best of all apples to me, because they remind me of the apples I used to steal out of the orchards when I was a boy, and which were so good—now least some one will take the premium from me on apples, allow me to enter, without fear of competition, a dozen bunches of DELAWARE GRAPES, being the first fruits of a young vine. Taste them, Messrs. Editors. Try them again. Are they not de li ci o us? With the Delawares I send a few bunches of Catawbas, with which to institute a comparison. But the Catawbas are something extra. They are sweet and good, and I think their rich flavor is owing to having been ripened fifteen feet from the ground. Did you ever taste better?

K.

P. S.—I forgot to call your attention to the Duchess D'Angouleme pear and little Pattie's bouquet, which she begs you to give to your little girl.

MEETING OF CITIZENS.

At an adjourned meeting of the citizens of Jefferson county, held in Jeffersontown on Saturday, the 10th inst., the committee appointed by a prior meeting made the following report, which, after some discussion by various gentlemen present, was adopted unanimously:

Whereas the frequent assembling together of our colored population for the ostensible purpose of religious worship, is as the real object—if we may judge by the results in most cases—of the majority of them is very foreign from worship, they making it the occasion of carousal and frolic, thus depriving the well disposed among them of the benefit of proper worship; and whereas it appearing to us also that the negro preachers who attempt to minister to them in holy things are incompetent to teach them correct religious principles in all cases, on account of ignorance, and in some cases on account of obnoxious church relations—being amenable only to a free negro church from free States; and having endured this state of things for a long time, only to be convinced that it is an evil of vastly increasing magnitude; therefore,

Resolved, That we forbid the assembling together of the blacks in our midst for religious worship, under any circumstances, except it be when the exercises are conducted by a regularly authorized white minister.

Resolved, That we forbid all black preachers of whatever church or faith from preaching or exercising, in any way, the functions of their office in our midst.

Resolved, That we request all property holders to prevent the unlawful assembling of negroes upon their premises, and to prosecute any man thus violating the law.*

Resolved, That this meeting appoint the following gentlemen a standing committee to see that the above resolutions be enforced: M. Robards, Wm. Robards, Wm. Short, J. Everett, Wm. Glover, Jos. Lonsegt, Dr. Wm. Clarke, B. C. Talbot, W. P. Kingsley, D. Doup, J. Burks, Dr. O. Ross, G. Mallory, Jos. Wright, J. W. Graham, A. Seebolt, John Seebolt, S. P. Vaughan, J. B. Augustus, O. P. Williamson, J. L. Kalfus, E. Yeager, W. H. Frederick, M. Meddis, S. Conrad, J. M. Mitchell, L. Keller, S. B. Lewis, H. Funk, E. Owings, John Kennedy, A. Hoke, Wm. Allen, Fred Hikes, Dr. Wm. Bryan, F. Stucky, S. Hert, Jos. Hite, Jos. Funky, Wm. Tucker, Dr. S. Hills, C. Wells, John Jean, Wm. Leathman, Dr. W. W. Senteny, H. Woolett, Jas. Master, Thomas Leatheman, Ab. Funk, B. J. Stout, George Welch, Aus Tyler, Lee Ellingworth, H. Seebolt, John Shadburne, Thomas Bridwell, William Davis, Reuben Davis, C. Hoke, Charles Hoke, Stephen Bridwell, H. Tucker, George Sweeney, J. B. Bell, Dr. S. H. Reid, R. Carithers, James Gilliland, Dan McKinley, R. Clarke, A. Carpenter, Thomas Wise, Jacob Reel, S. S. Hite, A. R. Pennington, — Klinestter, Peyton Simpson, James Walker, George Womack, Thomas Miller, and B. Head.

Resolved, That we suggest that all the precincts in this county, not represented in this meeting, take similar action.

Resolved, That inasmuch as it is not the desire of this meeting to deprive the blacks of the means of grace, but rather to protect and advance their moral and religious welfare, we would recommend to the different churches to take measures by which to furnish the different colored congregations in their several connections with preaching by the regular white pastors.

On motion, it was

Resolved, That the proceedings of this meeting be published in the daily and weekly papers of Louisville.

*Art. 3, sec. 6, R. S. If any person having the control of a house or plantation, shall knowingly permit or suffer any slave not his own to remain in such house, or upon such plantation, for the space of four hours, without the leave of the owner of such slave, he shall forfeit and pay ten dollars for every such offense. If such person shall permit more than five negroes or slaves, not his own, at one time, to remain in his house or on his plantation, he shall forfeit one dollar for each negro; which fines and forfeitures may be recovered to the use of any person suing for the same, before a justice of the peace, or by presentment of the grand jury.

PLAN OF THE LOTTERY.

In the above scheme there are 50,000 tickets, numbered from 1 to 50,000. There are 153 full Prizes and 212 Approximations; and 25,000 Prizes determined by the number drawing the Capital Prize, making in all 25,365 Prizes.

The numbers from 1 to 50,000, corresponding with the numbers on the tickets, printed on separate slips of paper, are rolled up and encircled with small tin tubes and placed in a Glass Wheel.

The amounts of the different 153 full Prizes, similarly printed and encircled, are placed in another wheel. After revolving the wheels, a number is drawn from the wheel of numbers, and at the same time a Prize is drawn from the other wheel, by boys who are blindfolded. The number and the Prize drawn out are opened and exhibited to the audience and registered by the Commissioner, the Prize being placed against the number drawn. This operation is repeated until all the Prizes are drawn out. The drawing is then printed, and, after comparison, the Commissioner certifies to its correctness. The 25,000 Prizes of $8 00 each are determined by the number which draws the highest CAPITAL PRIZE ($50,000). If the number should be an odd number, then every odd number ticket will be entitled to $8 00; if an even number, then every even number ticket will be entitled to $8 00, in addition to any other Prize which a Ticket may be entitled to. (All those Tickets ending with 0, 2, 4, 6, 8 are even; all those ending with 1, 3, 5, 7, 9 are odd).

APPROXIMATION PRIZES.

The two preceding and the two succeeding numbers to those drawing the first 53 Prizes will be entitled to the 212 Approximation Prizes. For example:—If ticket No. 11,250 draws the $50,000 prize, those tickets numbered 11,248, 11,249, 11,251, and 11,252 will each be entitled to $400, and so on according to the above scheme. If ticket No. 1 should be drawn, the approximations would be 2, 3, 49,999 and 50,000. If ticket No. 50,000 should be drawn, the approximations would be 49,998, 49,999, 1 and 2. If ticket No 2 or 49,999 should be drawn, the approximations will be on the same principle.

☞ Prizes payable in full, WITHOUT DEDUCTION.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 5, 1859.

W. H. SETTLE—Dear Sir: After having made a thorough examination of the "Vesper Gas," in relation to its illuminating power, chemical composition, &c., I do not hesitate to recommend it as being safer and more economical as well as possessing greater intensity of illumination than any other material now in use.

In the laboratory it is superior to the alcohol as a means of obtaining heat, and will be found of invaluable service to the druggist as well as to the manufacturing chemist.
CHAS. W. WRIGHT, M. D.,
Prof. of Chemistry in the Ky. School of Medicine.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 20, 1859.

W. H. Settle, Esq: It gives me great pleasure to state that after a trial of one of the "Vesper Gas Lamps" in my study for six weeks past, and after observing closely for the same length of time the experiment of lighting our "Union Tent" with these lamps, I have entire confidence in their efficiency. It seems to me that they afford all the advantages of the best gas lights to those who live out of the cities and large towns.

The process of preparing and lighting the lamp is so readily learned, the fixtures are so simple and so little liable to get out of order, the cost of the light comparatively so little, and the whole so free from all danger, that it needs only mere acquaintance on the part of the public with the Vesper Gas Lamp to bring them into general use throughout the country. Yours truly, STUART ROBINSON.

FAIRVIEW, NEAR LOUISVILLE, Sept., 1859.

The "Vesper Gas" makes a brilliant and beautiful light that is cheap and portable and perfectly safe.

I have used it in my country dwelling house for several months past, and, after a fair trial, I prefer it to any other mode of illumination that can be obtained outside of the gas limits of the city.

The construction of the "Vesper Gas" burner and retort is so perfectly simple that it cannot get out of order, nor can it explode.

The management of the burners is easily understood, and they require but little more attention to keep clean and in good order than ordinary gas fixtures. The light produced by the "Vesper Gas" I consider fully equal in every respect to any other kind of gas light.
THOS. S. KENNEDY.

LOUISVILLE, August 19, 1859.

W. H SETTLE—Dear Sir: Feeling the necessity of having good light, I have, during several years past, tested and used quite a number and variety of lamps, among others the Vesper. This Lamp is entirely free from danger by explosion, simple in its machinery, and gives at a moderate cost a mild but very bright light, and, in my opinion, is greatly superior to any other style of lamps now in use in the West. Respectfully, VULCANITE BASE FOR ARTIFICIAL TEETH has been thoroughly tested and used in Eastern cities for the last four years, and proved beyond a doubt to be the best substance ever used as a base for sets of teeth. It possesses the following advantages over metallic plates: it is not more than half the weight of metal, is indestructible, and perfectly cleanly. The absolute certainty of fitting the mouth renders the old form of plate unnecessary, doing away with more than half the width, getting a better fit, and not at all impairing the taste, as in the case where the whole of the mouth is covered with plate. Its extreme lightness renders it particularly adapted to filling out sunken portions of the face. To those who are wearing sets that they cannot eat with we would say that, if they will give us a trial, we will guarantee them teeth with which they can eat and wear with ease and comfort. Please call at our office, on Fifth street, next door to the Cathedral, and examine specimens. All other dental operations carefully performed. sep6 disly FITTZ & FULTON.

FIFTH AVENUE HOTEL
ON FIFTH AVENUE,
At the Intersection of Broadway, Opposite Madison Square,
NEW YORK.

TO BE OPENED AUGUST 23d, 1859.

THIS location is the most desirable of any in this great metropolis, being the most healthy, delightful, and central in the city, and very near and convenient to the Hudson River and Boston Railroad Depots.

The entire arrangements of the establishment are the result of mature study and experience, and render it the most comfortable and home-like Hotel in the world.

All the improvements that comfort and convenience have suggested have been introduced.

Every precaution has been taken during construction to secure the positive safety of guests from the dangers of conflagration. Subdivision double brick walls extend from the rock foundation to the roof. All of the floors are double and are separated by a layer of cement, making the entire structure fire proof.

Among other important improvements, in addition to the usual stairways, a Vertical Railway is nearly completed, to convey guests from the first to the upper floors, upon a plan which admits of no possibility of accident.

Lofty, spacious, and continuous corridors, forming a promenade of eight hundred feet upon each of the six stories, give light and air in the highest degree to every apartment.

A liberal space has been appropriated to public drawing-rooms and parlors, connecting which and the dining-rooms there is a grand promenade-hall. Suites of spacious parlors, chambers, and dressing-rooms, with all the modern conveniences, have been especially designed for the comfort of families, traveling-parties, and single gentlemen.

An Exchange, containing the Journals of the day, and all the conveniences for commercial intercourse and business, has been added to the many other features of the hotel, and there is a telegraph office connecting with all parts of the country.

Billiard and chess rooms, of the most approved style and appointments, are provided for the use of guests and the public.

The furniture and every article of use in the establishment has been expressly designed and manufactured for the Fifth Avenue Hotel.

All communications for apartments, or upon any business connected with the house, please direct to "Fifth Avenue Hotel," in order to insure immediate attention.

The entire organization of this hotel has been under the direction of Mr. PARAN STEVENS, proprietor of the Revere and Tremont Houses, in Boston, and Battle and Point Clear Houses, in Mobile.

With much respect your obedient servants,

Valuable Coal Property for Sale.

THE widow and heirs at law of Cyrus Prentiss, late of Portage county, Ohio, deceased, offer for sale the coal mines, situated in New Cumberland, Hancock county, Virginia—being the mines purchased of Alfred Chapman, B. W. Chapman and A. O. Chapman—consisting of one hundred and twenty-three acres, with the appurtenances and privileges conveyed by the above parties to Cyrus Prentiss, on the 20th day of April, 1857. There is a stratum of five feet of coal on the above premises now opened. From three to four thousand bushels can be mined and delivered at the Ohio river per day. Also, all the minerals on 167 acres known as the Carson Farm, consisting of 80 acres of a 5 foot vein of coal connected with the Chapman purchase, and can be worked from the same openings; and is also rich in iron ore, fire clay, &c. The mines are the most valuable of any now worked on the Ohio river. The quality of coal equal to Pittsburg or Youghiogheny. EXECUTORS' SALE
LAND, NEGROES, STOCK, CROPS, &c.

THE undersigned, executors of Stark Taylor, dec'd, will expose at public sale to the highest bidder, at the late residence of said decedent, on the Farm on which the said Taylor resided at the time of his death, situated 5 miles from Lexington, on the Newtown turnpike, containing about 500 ACRES OF LAND. The land is as fine as is to be found in Kentucky; in a high state of cultivation, well watered, and with an ample supply of wood and timber for all purposes. The improvements are excellent, there being upon the place a large brick dwelling, and all necessary out-buildings, viz—Servants' rooms, Stables, Barn, Ice House, Carriage House, &c. Two good Orchards of choice fruit. There is also upon the place a good Hemp Factory, a brick Weaving Shop, and an extensive brick Hemp House. There are several walled ponds on the place, and about half a mile of Stone Fencing. The land will be divided if desired, there being 300 acres on one side of the road, and 200 on the other, which can be sold separately.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 5TH, 1859,

This is believed to be one of the finest places in Kentucky, and in point of soil, location, improvements, &c., is certainly a most desirable one. Of the land, there are about 400 acres cleared and in cultivation, the balance (100 acres) in woodland well set in bluegrass. The whole is very productive. The Crop on the farm, consisting of about 150 acres of Corn in the field; about 500 bushels cleaned Wheat; about 20 acres of Oats in the stack; about 75 tons of Hay in the stack; about 15 acres of Hemp in the stack. A BLOODLESS VICTORY!
1,000,000 Boxes Sold of
MAGNETIC PLASTER.

THIS enormous quantity of this Invaluable Remedy has been purchased by citizens of the United States during the short time it has been before the public. The reason for this extraordinary success is simply in the actual truth and value of the article. No one buys the MAGNETIC PLASTER without becoming its friend. It performs all that is promised, and carries with it its own recommendation. Truly this is a Victory—peaceful and bloodless—but we believe not less glorious than the triumphs of war, with its train of carnage and desolation.

The MAGNETIC PLASTER is undoubtedly the Greatest Strengthener and Pain Destroyer that Science has ever discovered. If you put this Plaster anywhere, if Pain is there, the Plaster will stick there until the Pain has vanished. The Plaster magnetizes the Pain away, and PAIN CANNOT EXIST where this PLASTER IS APPLIED.

Rheumatism, Lameness, Stiffness, Weakness, Debility, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia, Coughs and Colds, Pains and Aches of every kind are IMMEDIATELY RELIEVED, and, with a little patience, PERMANENTLY CURED, by the magical influence of the MAGNETIC PLASTER. It is the simplest, surest, safest, pleasantest, and cheapest remedy in existence. Its application is universal—equally to the strong man, the delicate woman, and the feeble infant. Its use is agreeable, and without annoyance or trouble. Its price is within reach of all—rich or poor; all may have it, and all should have it who are sick and suffering in any way.

FARMERS and PLANTERS should always be supplied with the MAGNETIC PLASTER. It will be the Good Physician in any household, ready at all times and at instant notice.

Put up in air-tight tin boxes. Each box will make six to eight plasters, and any child can spread them. Price 25 cents a box, with full and plain directions.

THE MOREHEAD BANQUET.—The complimentary supper tendered by our citizens to Ex-Governor Morehead, came off with great eclat, at the Galt House, last evening. The spacious dining room of that well-known hotel was filled with guests, and the table groaned under the weight of delicacies provided by the taste of Capt. Miller, under whose superintendence the Galt is now maintaining all its old established reputation. The rooms were opened at half-past nine, and to the exhilirating music of a fine band, the invited guests and our citizens entered.

Judge Nicholas presided, assisted at the heads of the several tables by Messrs. Nat. Wolfe and Wm. Garvin, and Cols. W. H. Davidson and Samuel Churchill. The viands were satisfactorily discussed, consisting of the following

REGULAR TOASTS.

1. Our Country—"All discord, harmony well understood."
2. The Constitution of the United States—May the day of its adoption be a Sabbath in the calender of freedom and a jubilee to the oppressed nations of the world.
3. George Washington and the Union of the States—We cherish the memory of the one for his patriotism, his wisdom, and the unstained purity of his life. We prize the provisions of the other as the only hope of national liberty.
4. Disunion—Political disgrace to the man who shall make patriotism a cover to his ambition, and feels his country's greatness absorbed in his own.
5. The Great Valley of the Mississippi—One and indivisible, so long as the inhabitants are true to themselves.
6. Our State—The dutiful and affectionate daughter of the Union, the high-souled and generous sister, she stands the center of the American family, and clasps her sister and her mother to her loyal bosom.
7. The Occasion—Around this festive board the voice of party strife is hushed, the voice of conflict is silenced, the bitterness of disappointment is forgotten, and the exultant notes of the triumph have died away. This is friendship's offering.
8. Woman and her rule, a popular sovereignty to which we all submit.
9. Disunion—The greatest of evils a remedy for nothing.

Ex-Gov. Morehead replied to the ninth sentiment, which was prefaced by an elaborate speech from Judge Nicholas, who gave the patriotic words of Mr. Morehead, "Disunion, the greatest of evils, a remedy for none." Gov. Morehead's reply was eloquent and appropriate, and he wound up by proposing a sentiment to the enduring prosperity of Louisville, and his warmest and heartfelt hopes for the prosperity of its inhabitants.

The company separated at an early hour in fine spirits and highly gratified at the whole celebration.

☞ The first car on street railroads was run in Cincinnati on Wednesday, and was hailed with much enthusiasm.

☞ The Eastern mail was received an hour behind its regular time, and hence we did not get our exchanges.

☞ See the advertisement in another column of two young ladies.

☞ Rev. J. L. McKee will preach in the lecture room of the Chestnut Street Presbyterian Church this evening at 7½ o'clock.

☞ The second concert of Madame Varian James will be given this evening at Mozart Hall. We regret that the pre engagement of so many gentlemen at the Supper, prevented her from having the attendance last night which she so well merits. Her voice is of delicious purity, her style excellent, and her whole manner lady-like and prepossessing. There is a freshness in her singing, an absence of affectation, and a spirit in her vigorous enunciation of her notes, which pleased us. She is judicious in the use of ornamentation, and sings apparently without any effort at display. In this respect, she has the quality of Alboni, who had apparently merely to open her mouth for a gush of melody to escape its imprisoned beauties. We plead for the reputation of our city's taste and for the charming vocalist herself, that our gentlemen drop in at Faulds's this morning, and secure seats for tonight. There is no young lady in our city, studying music, who will not gain the equivalent of a quarter's tuition in listening to her well schooled method, and the most experienced amateur must be pleased with her. Mr. Cooke, the tenor, has a fine manly voice, and is an artist of merit. We never regretted the necessity of leaving a concert room for other engagements, as we did last night, when compelled to debar ourselves the pleasure of hearing the second part of the programme. Let the fair vocalist have a bumper this evening.

SEVERE ACCIDENT.—Yesterday morning an Italian named Lucasi started out hunting. When some six miles from the city, on the Preston street road, being undecided whether he had put any paper on the load in his gun, he placed his left hand to the muzzle of the barrel and turned it down to see whether the shot would fall out. He tapped it, when it went off, the load passing through the hand, and some of the shot going through his boot and lodging under the skin of the left foot. He was brought home by a milkman, who found him lying in a helpless condition. He has a wife and five small children in almost destitute circumstances. He resides on Sixth street, between Court Place and Market street.

THEATER.—The benefit and last appearance of Miss E. Mitchell takes place this evening, when she offers a very attractive bill, which we trust will insure her a crowded attendance. The houses have been miserably poor during her engagement, while she has much merit as an actress, and is very hard-working and pains-taking in her profession. On the occasion of her benefit the romantic drama of The Jewess will be performed, and the affecting domestic play of Agnes DeVere, a vivid story of woman's sufferings, with other entertainments. For gallantry sake, if all love for the drama is at present in a deep repose, let Miss Mitchell have some pecuniary compensation for her eleven nights' efforts to please the public.

MEXICO.—The article we copy from the New Orleans Picayune gives a lucid statement of the progress our Minister, Mr. McLane, has made for negotiating a treaty.

☞ The Barren county branch road, which, starting from Glasgow, is to tap the Louisville and Nashville railroad at Bell's Tavern, about eight miles below Ritter's Station, has a pretty strong force at work on it, and its grade is rapidly progressing under the contract of Messrs. Reddings. We hope our Barren county friends will push this road to an early completion. Glasgow has a rich back country to benefit by this branch, embracing the counties of Allen, Monroe, Cumberland, the "marrow bone" valley, Clinton, large portions of Green and Adair, and of Macon and Jackson in Tennessee. From all this region a vast amount of trade finds its direction South during the navigable stages of the Cumberland river, which has heretofore been lost to Louisville, but will be brought here when the branch road from Glasgow is completed, as it will be the interest and the undoubted policy of the people in the above named counties to open good turnpike roads to Glasgow, which, from the geography of the country, can be made at comparatively small cost. The Bardstown branch will soon be completed; the Lebanon branch is in full operation; the Barren branch must be pushed on vigorously; the rich Green river region lies on the path of the main road; the Memphis branch is progressing finely, and each and all of them are to supply Louisville with business far surpassing our most sanguine expectations. In seven or eight working weeks the road will be entirely open between our city and Nashville; by the first of October, if the fall continues pleasant. This great enterprise has, it is true, cost us some capital, but its blessings will soon bring in a fourfold return. We sincerely trust that our friends, who have under their charge the branch roads not yet finished, will press them to completion with all their energies, that we may enjoy the working of the entire harmonious system which Gov. Helm has planned with so much foresight.

☞ This afternoon, Mr. Spencer sells, on the premises, a brick house and lot on Floyd street between Main and Market. The sale we learn is without reserve, and the property is valuable and desirable.

☞ We need only remind our readers that Mr. Spencer's sale of fine wines takes place this morning at his auction rooms. These wines were freely sampled yesterday and pronounced by competent judges to be decidedly of superior quality. Previous to the sale of wines a horse, two buggies, and harness will be sold. See advertisement.

RIVER AND STEAMBOAT MATTERS.

The river was at a stand yesterday with 2 feet 3 inches water in the canal by the mark. Boats drawing 3 feet managed to pass through it.

The Tempest.—This very light draught and excellent steamer is the mailboat for Cairo this evening. She has superb accommodations and Capt. Parr and Mr. Hodges are very attentive to travelers.

The Bowling Green is the packet for Leavenworth today.

The Boston is the mailboat for Cincinnati.

It is not Capt. Bolton, but Capt. Baldwin, who is building the new Missouri river packet which we noticed yesterday. He formerly commanded the Florilda, and not the Florida.

The St. Louis Republican of yesterday says:

> The river here continues to recede at the rate of one inch in 24 hours. There is five feet scant in the channel out to Cairo.
> The upper rivers are all falling. There is two feet in the channel of the Illinois river below Peoria. There is 27 inches on the Lower Rapids, Upper Mississippi, and 3½ feet below Keokuk. The Missouri is falling from St Joseph down, with 3½ feet in the channel. The Missouri has arrived at her old marks.

The Memphis Appeal of Wednesday has the following:

> We are informed that the steamer Eclipse has been purchased by the Memphis and New Orleans Packet Company, and that she will enter the line on the 5th of October. The transfer was made, as the commercial men say, at p. n. t.—the price not having transpired.
> The Ingomar dropped down to the landing yesterday, and will take her place in the Memphis and New Orleans trade to-day, leaving this port at five o'clock this afternoon. The Ingomar will be commanded for the present by Capt. James F. Smith.
> Capt. Goule, President of the Railroad Line of steamers, will be in the city today, to make arrangements for the permanent establishment of the Imperial in the trade between this port and New Orleans.

☞ Our friend Jacob Ruckstuhl, reporter of the Anzeiger, has been appointed an aid to the Governor with the rank of Colonel. This is an appointment well deserved. Mr. Ruckstuhl served in the Mexican war in Col. Marshall's cavalry regiment, and in the battle of Buena Vista received seventeen wounds. He is, besides, a clever gentleman.

☞ Two apprentices were arrested last evening, charged with stealing from their employers.

☞ The General Council was in session last night.

The ordinance establishing a Board of Health has passed both Boards.

In the Board of Common Council the reports of the Chiefs of Fire Department and Police were allowed and the expenses ordered to be paid.

A large number of contracts for grading and paving sidewalks, digging and walling cisterns, and grading and paving streets, were presented and referred to appropriate committees.

Court House vouchers, from 319 to 326 inclusive, amounting to $3,600, were presented and allowed.

At 9 o'clock the railroad ordinance was taken up, when Mr. Pomeroy withdrew his amendment, (which named five gentlemen as the contractors) and Mr. Gilliss moved to amend by striking out 6 per cent. net and substituting 3 per cent. on gross receipts. Pending that motion, Mr. Pettit moved that one additional gentleman be added to the special committee, and postpone the consideration of the ordinance indefinitely, which was rejected. After some desultory remarks, the Council adjourned until Monday night next.

ANOTHER ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—On Wednesday night, Charles Ovington, private watchman on Breadway, detected two men climbing up a ladder at the residence of Mr. Sam. Tompkins, on the corner of Third street. When they saw Ovington they ran. He set his dog after them, but the canine mistook his mission and took after a cow which came in his path. The ladder was taken from Mr. Ford's residence by the burglars.

☞ Officer Dick Moore arrested a man named Charles Hikes yesterday, who, while under the influence of liquor, imagined himself the proprietor of Mr. Clegg's hat store, took possession of it, and threatened to knock everything and everybody into a cocked hat.

☞ In the communication, "Milton a Polygamist," as published in yesterday's Journal, there were three errors—the use of the word "adultery" in two instances for "idolatry," and "idea" for "ideal."

☞ A correspondent of the N. Y. Tribune states that a subterranean fountain of rock oil has been discovered at Sistersville, Pa., which yields 400 gallons of pure oil in 24 hours.

☞ The Indianapolis Journal, from which we copied the paragraph of a heavy embezzlement by a clerk in the American Express Office at Terre Haute, now says that the whole story is unfounded. Some weeks ago there was a report in circulation of a trifling embezzlement at that office, but the money was all recovered but a few dollars.

POLICE PROCEEDINGS—Thursday, September 15. Kate King is in the habit of walking the streets at night. Bail in $200 for three months.

George McKey alias Rodgers, a suspected character. Bail in $300 for six months.

Amanda Hicks, f. w. c., stealing $1100 from John Owen, at Danville. Remanded to Boyle county.

Almore Smith, stealing $5 from J. Davidsor. Continued till to-morrow.

James Gorman had James Jeffries up on a peace warrant. Continued till next Thursday.

John Holland and Porter Johnson, assault on Jeff. Short at a house of bad repute last night. Held to bail to answer.

James Ford, drunk and disorderly. Bail in $100 for three months.

Thomas Sipp, passing a counterfeit $5 bill on the Northwestern Bank of Virginia. One of the witnesses stated that on the genuine fives on this bank the name of the place was written, while on the counterfeit it was engraved. Continued till to-morrow for further testimony.

☞ It augers well for the advance of science when physicians lay aside their prejudices and almost unanimously join in recommending to their patients so valuable a remedy as Dr. John Bull's Vegetable Worm Destroyer. Nothing but the most undoubted merit in the remedy could have produced this result. It is rapidly superseding in the market all other remedies.—Evansville (Ind.) Enquirer.

THE GREAT EASTERN.—The city government of Portland, Me., at a meeting last Friday evening, made arrangements for a suitable demonstration on the occasion of the arrival of the Great Eastern. The programme includes a public dinner, ball, general illumination of the city, ringing of bells, salutes of artillery, excursions in the harbor, military displays, and other manifestations. It was also voted to extend invitations to the President of the United States and his Cabinet, to Lieut. Gen. Winfield Scott, to the Governors of the several States in the Union, to the Gov. General of Canada and Ministry, to Gen. Williams, Commander-in-Chief of the British forces in North America, and to the Governors of Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, with their Cabinets, to visit Portland on the occasion. Means will be provided by the city authorities and by citizens to defray the expenses incident to the demonstration. The city of Portland will have its capacity to receive and entertain strangers fully tested while the Great Eastern remains in the harbor.

☞ The San Francisco Herald of the 21st ult. mentions that the treasure shipments per steamer Sonora amounted to $2,132,566 24 against $2,034,939 16, for a corresponding period of 1858, indicating an excess in favor of the present shipment of $97,627 08. The passenger list per Cortes (opposition) amounted to 512, and per Sonora 322—giving a total of 834 against 1,097 by previous steamers, showing a falling off of 263 passengers.

Horace Greeley was to take passage by the Overland Mail of the 28th for St. Louis. He may be expected there about the 20th inst.

HOGS—CORRECTION.—Our packers place little reliance in the letter from an anonymous correspondent at Shelbyville, giving a sale of hogs at $4 gross. The impression seems to be that the party is a "bull," and probably is the purchaser of some $18 pork. While on this subject, we will correct an error that has gone the rounds of the papers as to the number of hogs in this State returned by the assessors. It is 254 600 head in excess of last year, and not 54,000 as has been heretofore stated.

The Indianapolis Journal of yesterday says:

> The figures gathered from the Assessor's returns of the number of hogs in Indiana embrace a little over half the counties. In comparison with 1858 the counties reported show a decrease in the number of hogs of 161,356. Some counties gain over the figures reported for 1857 and 1858, while others fall off largely. The returns from Gibson county, where the hog cholera has extensively prevailed, show a larger decrease. Boone county shows a decrease of 8,456, Parke 5,537, Delaware 18,633, Hendricks 14,421, Owen 6,333, Pike 9,479, and Clay 4,562. These counties show the largest figures in the decrease, while other counties show an increase in number, but not in a corresponding ratio with the figures above given. Blackford, Crawford, Clarke, Dubois, Elkhart, Fountain, Fulton, Grant, Henry, Harrison, Hancock, Jay, Kosciusko, Lagrange, Miami, Martin, Orange, Putnam, Spencer, Union, Vigo, Wabash, Warren, and Washington show a handsome increase.

The following premiums were awarded at the State fair on the afternoon of the second day:

INDIANA FREE BANKS.—The Indianapolis Journal has the following:

> The following Free Banks of Indiana, which have been retiring their circulation for some time, having withdrawn all their securities from the Auditor and Treasurer of State, have been placed at a discount by the banks of this city:
> Brookville Bank, Bank of Syracuse, Merchants' & Mechanics' Bank, Fayette County Bank, Indian Reserve Bank, Bank of Warsaw.

FAILURES IN BOSTON.—The Boston Atlas of Tuesday says:

> The extensive and well known publishing house of Phillips, Sampson, & Co. suspended payment on Saturday, much to the regret of the community. The two leading members of the firm have died within a few months, and the survivor deemed it best under the embarrassing circumstances in which he was placed to suspend. The Atlantic Monthly, we hear, will be continued without interruption. We sincerely hope that the suspension will be only a temporary one.
> Several failures were reported in the shoe trade on Saturday, viz: T. C. Webb & Co., L. E. Waite & Co., and Charles Packer.

INTERESTING MARRIAGE CEREMONY.—A marriage ceremony of a peculiar and interesting character was performed in this county on Friday last. The parties were Major Alex. Culbertson and Natowista, daughter of the chief of the Blackfoot Indians. Maj. Culbertson is the well known Indian trader, and was married to his present wife according to the Indian ceremony some sixteen or seventeen years ago, but having lately severed his connection with the American Fur Company and settled down to an agricultural life near this city, he was anxious that the ceremony might be performed according to civilized rites. The parties have three very interesting children, the eldest of whom is about fifteen years of age.

The marriage was performed after the ceremony of the Catholic Church, by Father Scanlan, of St. Joseph, Mo. A very large number of invited guests were present on the occasion—the marriage having taken place at the Major's residence. Among them was Capt. James Kipp, a veteran of eighty years, one of the first members of the American Fur Company, and an associate of Major Culbertson since the latter's connection with the fur trade. Like the Major, Capt. Kipp has lately severed his connection with the company, and has settled down to spend the remainder of his days at Parksville, Mo. Father Scanlan is an old and intimate friend of the Major's, and one who had interested himself in the Catholic mission established by his church among the Blackfoot nation.

Mrs. Culbertson is a lady of fine native talent. She is said to have rendered great service to Gov. Stevens and Maj. Cumming (now Governor of Utah) at the time they visited the Blackfoot country, and made the treaty of the Judith between this Government and the nation to which she belonged.

LOUISVILLE AGENCY OF THE
NEW YORK
Life Insurance Company.

At a Meeting of the Local Directors of the New York Life Insurance Co.

HELD at the office of Wm. S. Vernon, in the city of Louisville, Ky., Feb. 1st, 1859, the following was unanimously adopted:

The undersigned, President and Directors of the Company, have examined the report and exhibit of the New York Life Insurance Company for the half year ending Jan. 1st, 1859 and being satisfied with its prosperous condition, cordially recommend it to the encouragement and support of the community.

The New York Life Insurance Company has been in existence fourteen years; its capital has attained the sum of $1,600,000, invested in State stocks, bonds, and mortgages on real estate.

We think it a most safe and profitable mode of investing money. The profits enure to the benefit of the insured, and have averaged not less than 30 per cent per annum on the premium paid.

Besides these investments in stocks, &c., the law of New York requires as additional security that $100,000 shall be deposited with the State Comptroller, to meet any lawful demands which the Company may fail to pay.

We invite attention to the nature, objects, and advantages of life insurance as set forth by this Institution.

It will be seen by the above statement that this Company is in a flourishing condition. Those desirous of information in regard to the subject of life insurance would do well to call on the local agent of the above Company, who will give them any information that may be desired, or for reference apply to either member of the Local Board, all of whom are insured in this office.

☞ THE GREAT DRAWBACK to persons emigrating to the extreme Western country is the great fear they have of the Fever and Ague—the most direful of all diseases. Every day we hear of persons attacked by this disease, and made helpless in a short time, without any means of affording relief. In view of the great demand for a remedy, Dr. Hostetter has presented his celebrated "BITTERS," whose curative powers for all diseases of the stomach have been universally acknowledged. The "Bitters," prepared after a long experience and deep study, have received the encomiums of the most eminent physicians, as well as all classes, from every part of our country. To those who doubt their many virtues, all we can say is, try them, and judge for themselves, respectively.

THESE pills are nothing new, but have been used by the Doctor in his practice for many years both in France and America, with unparalleled success in every case; and he is urged by many thousand ladies residing in this city as well as other cities, who have used them, to make the pills public for the alleviation of those suffering from any irregularities whatever, as well as a preventive to those ladies whose health will not permit an increase of family. The composition of these pills is made known to every agent selling them, and they will tell you the pills are perfectly harmless to health, yet at the same time will do all they promise. There is not a lady living but what at "some period of her life" needs them, especially for that common yet debilitating complaint known as Leucorrhea or Whites. Price $1 per box.

From the Evening Bulletin.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

The New York papers this morning are filled with reports of and comments on the doings of the State Democratic Convention held at Syracuse yesterday. The Herald in an editorial uses the following language:

"The treachery of the Albany Regency to Henry A. Wise has brought forth its appropriate fruit. The fraud has been consummated at Syracuse by a vote to appoint delegates to the Charleston Convention. The Democrats of this State have thus been treated with contempt, and, instead of being permitted to select the men they wished to represent them in the National Convention to nominate a candidate for the Presidency, the Albany Regency, consisting of Cassidy, Cagger, Comstock, Corning, Richmond, & Co., have taken the selection out of their hands and arranged it themseves. Certain it is that the dissatisfaction among the Democracy of this State at forestalling them in the appointment of delegates to Charleston will be such that it will demoralize the party and cause thousands to remain away from the polls in the fall elections. Thus will the proverb be realized in politics as well as in other things, that honesty is the best policy, and a heavy retribution will be visited upon the heads of the Albany clique. They have sown the wind and they will yet reap the whirlwind."

The Times concludes that this is merely the first step towards a split in the party, but it has been so very badly managed that the split is likely to be a very trifling affair. Mr Woods's impetuosity seems to have overborne his shrewdness. It was generally understood that he had resolved upon running for Mayor this fall with or without the regular nomination. This last movement has not increased his chances of success here in getting that nomination or doing without it. It may be seriously doubted now whether he can draw off votes enough from the regular ticket to give the Republicans any chance of electing their candidate.

The New York Herald's special Washington correspondent says: General Scott's advice is required relative to the San Juan Island difficulty, and will be asked for at a meeting of the Cabinet, which will be held on Thursday for the purpose of reading over the late dispatches from General Harney and debating on the general bearings of the affairs in this light. Gen. Scott's opinion is considered absolutely necessary by the President. The Administration are a good deal exercised in regard to the present aspect of affairs growing out of the seizure of the Island of San Juan. They are fearful that a collision will take place before dispatches recently transmitted can reach General Harney.

Nothing has been received from Commissioner Campbell, who has been engaged for upwards of two years arranging the boundary.

Mr. Preston, our Minister to Spain, will doubtless return home as soon as he learns of the death of Gov. Wickliffe. Our Government, at the request of his family, have written him, giving leave of absence, provided he desires it.

The dispatch from St. Louis in yesterday's papers, in regard to the sale of mules at Camp Floyd, is a tissue of falsehoods from beginning to end.

The Peruvian Minister had a long interview with the Secretary of State to-day in reference to affairs transpiring between the two governments. There has recently been manifested a disposition to settle a number of long standing accounts held by our citizens.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 15.

Leavenworth.—Counter proclamations have been issued by the Board of State Canvassers authorized by the late Constitutional Convention, and Walsh, the Territorial Secretary, in regard to the reception of the returns of votes on the constitution. The Board claim that the authority of the Convention is supreme. Walsh characterizes their proceedings as illegal. Under the Lecompton constitution the returns were directed to John Calhoun.

WORCESTER, MASS, Sept. 15.

A caucus of the delegages to the State Democratic Convention to meet today was held last night. The Convention appeared to be strongly in favor of Douglas and will probably select Douglas delegates to Charleston.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 15, M.

River eleven inches at Glass House and falling very slowly. Weather clear and cool.

PHILADELPHIA, September 15.

Ex Senator Cooper has written an interesting letter in response to an application from a committee of Philadelphians for his opinions relative to the movement at the last session of Congress for an increase of the existing rates of postage. He says no measure of public policy adopted by the Government since its foundation has ever met with such universal acceptance as the reduction of the rates of postage. All sections, all classes of the country united in expressing their approval of this wise and beneficial measure. Its effect was to quicken intellectual activity, promote public prosperity, facilitate intercourse between those whom distance separated, thus ministering to the sentiments of friendship and kindred, as well as to the advantage and convenience of those engaged in the various occupations of life.

If anything were wanted to prove how strongly the people of the land are wedded to cheap postage it would be found in the favor with which a large majority of them received the defeat of the post-office bill at the last session of Congress. While no people in the world are more averse than ours to any act on the part of their representatives tending to discredit or degrade the Government or arrest any of its departments in the discharge of their constitutional functions, the defeat of the postage bill was nevertheless hailed with general satisfaction; for, inasmuch as the provisions of the defeated bill were designed to increase the rate of postage, the authors of this defeat, instead of encountering the execrations of their constituents, almost everywhere received their plaudits, although the Post Office Department, during the whole of a long recess, was left without means to carry on its business.

He recommends the alteration of the present law so as to allow of the sale of stamped envelopes at the price now paid for postage stamps, and adds the only argument as has already been shown, against a reduction, is that after applying the whole of the revenue derived from the present rates, in the payment of the postal facilities afforded by the department, there appears an annual deficit of several millions of dollars to be supplied from the customs and other sources. This is undoubtedly a fact, but it is a poor argument against a reduction of the rates of postage. If any difficulty existed in raising an amount of revenue sufficient for all the legitimate purposes of government, including the deficit in the Postoffice department, or if such amount could not be raised without detriment to the interest of the country, the argument would be a plausible if not a conclusive one, but when it is shown that by a properly discriminated system of duties on foreign merchandize an amount of revenue sufficient for these purposes can easily be raised without detriment to commerce or any other interests, the argument is stripped of all its force; and at this moment, when in consequence of the too great reduction of duties and the unwise principle on which they are levied, the domestic interests of the country are suffering from the flood of imports forced in upon us from abroad, it is quite manifest that so far from being injured by an increase of duties, such increase would be a means, and perhaps the only means, of avoiding another great commercial revulsion threatened by the enormous amount of our foreign indebtedness. My views on this subject were fully expressed a few months since in an address delivered in this city to the Iron Masters' Association. The iron trade of the United States, one of the most important, and destined, under a wise and judicious policy, to outstrip in magnitude every other interest of this country, is at the present depressed and paralyzed under a system of low duties, levied on a principle which is obnoxious to the objection that it leads to the perpetration of fraud and affords the least amount, both of duties and protection, where both are used.

That an interest so vast, so national in its character, and on the prosperity and extension of which the commercial supremacy of the country depends, should not only be disregarded and overlooked, but viewed with an eye of jealous distrust by those whose national pride should induce them to protect it, is an evidence of unworthy and narrow prejudice which sometimes blinds men who in other respects are just and liberal.

In the great race for commercial dominion, we are already treading on the heels of Great Britain; and it is a most encouraging fact that if the present value of her exports in iron were subtracted from the aggregate of her foreign commerce, and added to that of the United States, the superiority would belong to the latter.

In this contest, whether commercial and political supremacy shall remain with England or be transferred to the United States, will depend in a great measure on the policy of our own government. Let Congress, then, use the power with which the Constitution has clothed it, to foster and encourage our industry. Let the government continue the policy introduced by the late Secretary of the Treasury, Mr. Guthrie, to discriminate in favor of American manufactures, in the disbursements, as well as in the collection of the public revenue. Let the wierd spirit of sectional discord be quenched, and a just, liberal, and national legislative policy be pursued, and there will be an end of those periodical revulsions, occasioned by an adverse balance of trade, the consequence of an influx of foreign goods, more than commensurate with our ordinary or actual means of payment.

By pursuing such a policy, the Government will avoid a struggle with the difficulties incident to an empty treasury. It will be no longer execrated for withholding from the public creditor his just dues, nor be compelled to resort to measures so unwise and deeply distasteful to the people as some of those which lately characterized the administration of some of its departments.

But if the Government will not be wise, and Congress, influenced by party considerations, dictated by sectional prejudice, should refuse to enact laws for the protection of such branches of national industry as are engaged in an unequal struggle with foreign competitors, who have advantages derived from cheap capital and wages reduced to a mere subsistence standard, it will become the duty of those whose interests are neglected to devise a remedy adequate to the correction of the grievance complained of. Such a remedy will be found in an organized league of the suffering interests.

That a properly organized league of the suffering interests, or combination of those whose interests are neglected, would have power to correct the evil, can scarcely be doubted by any one acquainted with the extent of the influence they are capable of exercising. The iron interest alone holds the balance of power between the political parties both in Pennsylvania and New Jersey, and, in certain contingencies, in several other States as well as in a number of Congressional districts in various parts of the Union.

In my address to the Iron Masters' Association, already referred to, I recommended the organization of such a league, in view of the application then about to be made to Congress for an increase of duty on iron, and a change in the mode of assessment. The recommendation, though received with favor by some of the members of the Association, was not acted on, nor was any increase of the duty secured.

A committee of gentlemen, amongst the most distinguished and intelligent in the State, possessing a large share of influence, were dispatched to Washington for the purpose of procuring the desired legislation. For a while they were flattered with the hope of accomplishing something, but inasmuch as they relied on the justice of their cause and the unanswerable character of the arguments by which they were able to support it, disavowing all design on the part of their constituents of any attempt to remedy the evils complained of by resorting to an exercise of the political influence they were capable of commanding, they failed of their object, as they always will fail until the tone of supplication is changed to a tone of command, backed by an organization that will cause it to be obeyed. When this is accomplished justice will be done to their interests, but hardly before.

I trust I have said enough to satisfy every one that any deficit in the revenues of the Postoffice Department, occasioned by a further reduction of the rates of postage, may be supplied from an increase of duties on foreign fabrics, and that this may be done not only with advantage to the interests subject to competition, but to trade and commerce generally, by protecting them against the recurrence of those disasters which have always followed closely upon the heels of low duties and the inordinate impartations which are a consequence of them.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

There is much irregularity in stocks today. The share list generally shows a barely sustained market, though of the two leading speculations—New York Central and Galena—the former opened at 80½, from which there is no abatement, sales having been made since the board at 80⅝. Galena commenced at 75½, but a strong demand appearing for the stock, a rise of fully 1 per cent. was established—76⅝ having been paid since the adjournment of the board. A decline of ¼ per cent. took place in Illinois Central and Harlem preferred. Pacific Mail was very quiet at 83¾. Panama is firm at $1 18. Toledo was the weakest on the list. A very moderate business was done in miscellaneous securities. Bank stocks and railroad and State bonds are firmly held.

There is rather more capital seeking temporary employment, and demand loans are 5½@6 per cent., with occasional transactions at 5c. The discount market is also very easy—prime 4 and 6 month's paper being easily placed at 7 per cent.

In the exchange market there is little doing, the non-arrival of the Persia tending to restrict business somewhat. The rates on London and Paris are very firm. Southern bank bills sell at full rates; on London $1 10, on Paris $5f.,13¼.

The Bavaria, for Hamburg to day, takes out half a million in specie. The Jason, for Galway today, takes $10,450 in specie for St. Johns.

The State Comptroller has revoked the authority of the Safeguard Insurance Company to do business in this State. This does not surprise any one at all familiar with insurance matters. The shares of the concern sold a short time since at public auction at 105 per share.

The fall trade does not meet the sanguine expectations formed early in the season, and from most all departments which receive animation and support from the wants of the country at large we hear of only a moderate demand. The late demand, however, is expected to bring sales up to a fair aggregate. With respect to the dry goods market, independent of today's report, the market has been active, but mostly at auction. The importers are forced to the auction rooms to sell their goods, and some heavy sacrifices have been made in silk goods, some parcels netting not above 60 per cent of their invoice price. Prices have declined during the week. Few are the goods that have been sold at private sale, either British, French, or German fabrics. British goods do not find their way to the auction rooms in very large quantities. French shawls, merinoes, and ribbons are sold exclusively at auction, and none but the very best styles are firm in price. The auctioneers are doing a profitable business, and most of them discount their own paper, inducing the importers to sell in this way, as they can immediately realize and remit home the proceeds.

The budget of the Secretary of the Treasury for the current fiscal year, is thus noticed by the Times of this morning:

It appears that the Secretary of the Treasury, on revision of his estimates of revenue for the fiscal year of 1860, ending June 30th next, claims that his customs will yield at least $62,400,000, instead of $58,000,000, as heretofore estimated, and that with other resources, he will be able to reimburse or purchase the public debt to the extent of $7,751,000; without reducing his working balance below $6,000,000, at the end of the year. He has already determined that no Treasury bills falling due after the 30th of June last, will be reissued, or in any way renewed. The amount then subject to renewal was less than $5,000,000. Since then, the sub-Treasury in New York, and other parties for the government, have disposed of about $2,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 15.

The recent convention between Great Britain and Guatemala, defining the boundaries of the Balize, does not threaten a disturbance of our peaceful relations with England nor embarrass the settlement of our Central American differences.

Lieut. General Scott arrived here this morning. In the course of the day he called on the President and other officers of the Government. He came on business relative to the San Juan Island dispute. The present indications are that he will be ordered thither. The condition of affairs in that quarter is considered such as to require the services of a man of his well known character for prudence in all his official movements, to prevent a possible collision between the United States and British forces pending the settlement of the question by the two governments, as in the Northeastern boundary.

The leave of absence to Commodore Stewart to enable him to visit Europe having expired, he has been, it is said, officially informed that it would be gratifying to the Navy Department if he would resume the active command of the Philadelphia Navy Yard. This mark of high respect is in accordance with the act of Congress which bestowed upon him the title of Superior Flag Officer, in recognition of his distinguished services and merits. As he never disobeyed an order, it is thought he will not decline the invitation now extended to him.

Secretary Floyd has been advised by his physician to take the route to Old Point Comfort on his way to Washington, and he will leave the Springs in a day or two for that purpose. His health is somewhat improved.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

The Herald's Syracuse correspondent says that Wood and his men completed their ticket and returned home this evening. The Benicia Boy and other short boys accompany him. Wood is very bitter in his denunciations of Dickinson, Schell, and others, and says he will slaughter them in the News. He made a strong Douglas speech to-night at the Vorhees House, and is now bound to develop the Little Giant's interest in the State.

Dickinson says he has understood the measures of Wood to draw him into his snare and has therefore avoided him.

The New York Times's Washington correspondent sends today some very interesting as well as new and authentic figures on the current and prospective finances of the Federal Government. It appears that the Secretary of the Treasury on a revision of his estimates of revenue for the fiscal year of 1860, ending June 30 next, claims that his customs will yield at least $62,400,000 instead of $58,000,000, as he before estimated, and that with other resources he will be able to reimburse or purchase the public debt to the extent of $7,751,000 without reducing his working balance below $6,000,000 at the end of the year. He has already determined that no Treasury bills falling due after June 30 will be received or in any way renewed. The amount then subject to renewal was less than $5,000,000. Since then the Sub-Treasurer in New York and other parties for the Government have disposed of about $2,000,000. His revised budget for 1860 is thus presented to provide for all wants of the year—$63,321,000, with a cash balance June 30, 1850, of $4,339,000, Treasury bills $4,953,000, loan of January 24, $138,000, together with $10,672,000; customs of the year $62,400,000, lands and miscellaneous $4,000,000; total $77,072,000; leaving a surplus June 30, 1860, of $13,751,000.

WORCESTER, Mass., Sept. 15.

The State Democratic Convention is in session, and the attendance is unusually large. Feeling is exhibited between the Douglasites and their opponents. The former want the Convention to make an expression favorable to Douglas. Francis Parker, a Douglasite, is the temporary chairman.

Resolutions pledging the Convention to Douglas and the popular sovereignty doctrines were laid on the table as being out of place.

George B Levering, Douglas candidate, was elected permanent President, receiving 900 votes out of 1300.

MANCHESTER, N. H., Sept. 15.

At the firemen's muster held here today, a serious riot occurred between the firemen and gamblers. Several buildings were partially demolished and other property destroyed. The gamblers used their pistols but were finally driven off. Two houses occupied by them on Elm street were gutted. The mob next attacked the American House and Museum buildings, breaking the windows.

The riot had its origin in an assault on the firemen by the gamblers in the houses first attacked. The mob were in the act of attacking other houses not occupied by gamblers, when a speech from a fireman, in which he represented that they were destroying the property of those who were entirely guiltless of any offence, caused them to desist.

There are 75 fire companies here to take part in the contest for prizes, and they are attended by 30 bands of music.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.

As yesterday's afternoon train from Jersey City to Middletown, on the Erie railroad, was turning the curve between Hilr's and Patterson, two men were discovered walking on the track. They did not heed the ringing of the bell nor the whistle, but their indifference indicated that they supposed they were on the right track. Before the train could be stopped, they were run over. One of them, Wm. Smith, an umbrella vender, was instantly crushed to death. The other, Joseph Jenkins, of Patterson, survived only about an hour. While no blame is attached to any one, it would seem that the trains should not run around curves so raidly as to prevent their being stopped before reaching any object that might happen to be on the track.

The State Democratic Convention met again this morning, and nominated the same ticket as that nominated by ex-Mayor Wood's party, with the exception of the Clerk of the Court of Appeals. The resolutions reported for the consideration of the convention strongly affirm the rights of American citizens and adopted, all over the world, and the duty of the Government to protect them, and declare that Congress has not power to legislate slavery into the Territories, or to enact a slave code for the Territories, or to prohibit the South from a just share in the benefit of a Territory. They also endorse, moderately, the course of the National Administration.

IT IS NOT TOO MUCH TO SAY
SINCE ALL,
OLD & YOUNG
AFFIRM ITS TRUTH,
Viz: That Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative

WILL preserve infallibly the growth and color of the hair, if used two or three times a week, to any imaginable age. Perfectly restore the gray, cover the bald with nature's own ornament, the hair; make it more soft and beautiful than any oil, and preserve the scalp free from all disease to the greatest age. Statesmen, Judges, Attorneys, Doctors, Clergymen, Professional men, and Gentlemen and Ladies of all classes, all over the world, bear testimony that we do not say too much in its favor. Read the following and judge:

HICKORY GROVE, St. Charles Co., Mo.
November 19, 1857.

PROF. O. J. WOOD—Dear Sir: Some time last summer we were induced to use some of your Hair Restorative, and its effects were so wonderful, we feel it our duty to you and the afflicted to report it.

Our little son's head for some time had been perfectly covered with sores, and some called it scald head. The hair almost entirely came off in consequence, when a friend, seeing his sufferings, advised us to use your Restorative; we did so with little hope of success, but, to our surprise and that of our friends, a very few applications removed the disease entirely, and a new and luxuriant crop of hair soon started out, and we can now say that our boy has as healthy a scalp and as luxuriant a crop of hair as any other child. We can, therefore, and do hereby, recommend your Restorative as a perfect remedy for all diseases of the scalp and hair.

We are yours, respectfully,
GEO. W. HIGGINBOTHAM,
SARAH A. HIGGINBOTHAM.

PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: My hair had, for several years been becoming prematurely gray, accompanied by a harshness which rendered the constant application of oil necessary in dressing it. When I commenced using your Hair Restorative, about two months ago, it was in that condition; and, having continued its use till within the last three weeks, it has turned to its natural color, and assumed a softness and lustre greatly to be preferred to those produced by the application of oils or any other application I have ever used. I regard it as an indispensable article for every lady's toilet, whether to be used as a Hair Restorative or for the simple purpose of dressing or beautifying the hair. You have permission to refer to me all who entertain any doubt of its peforming all that is claimed for it.

MRS. C. SYMONDS,
Cincinnati, O., Feb. 10, 1857. 114 Third street.

WELLINGTON, Mo , Dec. 5, 1857.

PROF. WOOD—Dear Sir: By the advice of a friend of mine, who had been using your Restorative, I was induced to try it. I had the fever, some time last May, and nearly every hair in my head came out. Now my hair has come in a great deal thicker than ever it was. Nothing but a duty and sympathy that I feel to communicate to others who are afflicted as I have been would induce me to give this public acknowledgment of the benefit I have received from Prof. Wood's Hair Restorative.

Yours, respectfully,
A. R. JACOBS.

The Restorative is put up in bottles of three sizes, viz: large, medium, and small; the small holds ½ of a pint, and retails for one dollar per bottle; the medium holds at least twenty per cent more in proportion than the small, retails for two dollars per bottle; the large holds a quart, forty per cent more in proportion, and retails for $3 a bottle.

LOUISVILLE
PRIVATE MEDICAL DISPENSARY

Established for the relief of the misguided and imprudent votary of false pleasure, who, finding that he has imbibed the seeds of a certain loathsome disease, is, from an ill-timed sense of shame, deterred from applying to a physician whose knowledge and experience can alone befriend him in distress.

BEING DESIROUS OF RENDERING myself as proficient as possible in the profession I have adopted, I have recently visited many of the principal Hospitals in New York, Albany, Boston, Philadelphia, &c., where I had the privilege of witnessing many new and scientific operations in Surgery and of becoming acquainted with many new and valuable remedies, which I am prepared to introduce into my practice for the benefit of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with any of those diseases which come under my special practice. Those who believe they have contracted disease should make immediate application, as, by my improved treatment, I am enabled to cut short recent cases in a few days.

YOUNG MEN, who, by indulging in solitary habits, have contracted that mind-harrowing and body-destroying disease, seminal weakness, which leads to the most alarming and fatal consequences, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease which never fails of affecting a quick and radical cure.

MIDDLE-AGED and OLD MEN, who, by excessive indulgence in their passions, have produced a debility in advance of their years, can consult Dr. Gates with the fullest assurance of being again restored to that state of health which they would have enjoyed had they never committed any excess.

Persons contemplating marriage and having any doubt as to their physical ability to enter into that solemn contract, should apply at once to Dr. Gates, who will remove all obstacles to prevent a long and happy life.

In all cases which he undertakes, he guarantees a perfect and permanent cure, no matter who nor what else has failed.

LOUISVILLE JOURNAL.

☞ The death of Leigh Hunt, the well-known English journalist and poet, whose writings have attained much popularity in this country, is announced. He was born at Southgate, in Middlesex, England, Oct. 19, 1784. His father, a West Indian by birth, resided in Pennsylvania at the time of the American Revolution, and manifested his loyalty to the English crown so warmly that he was compelled to fly to England, where he soon afterwards took orders in the English Church, and became tutor to Leigh, a nephew of Lord Chandos. Leigh Hunt was named after his father's pupil, and received his early education at Christ's Hospital. Mr. Hunt commenced to write poetry at an early age, and in 1805 assisted his brother in editing a paper, which the latter had established, called The News. In connection with his brother, he afterwards edited another paper called the Examiner, in which he called the Prince-Regent an "Adonis of fifty," was prosecuted for libel, found guilty, and sentenced to pay a fine of £500, and to suffer two years' imprisonment. His brother also shared his imprisonment and fine and costs of suit. After his liberation, Leigh Hunt continued to write for the Examiner, and subsequently set up a quarterly magazine called the Reflector, which was followed by the Liberal, which he published in connection with Byron and Shelley. In 1822, Hunt went to Italy to reside with Lord Byron, and on his return freely expressed his dissatisfaction in a work called Lord Byron and his Contemporaries. Mr. Hunt's chief reputation rests on his E says, published in a collection called the Round Table, which he wrote in connection with Hazlitt; also in his Indicator and Companion, &c., &c.

☞ An interesting correspondence on the question of Sunday travel on city railroads has passed between the chairman of the Philadelphia Sunday committee, Mr. Wm. B. Thomas, and Mayors Tiemann of New York, Powell of Brooklyn, and Lincoln of Boston. Mayor Tiemann takes strong ground in favor of Sunday travel on the city railroads; states that the custom is generally prevalent in New York, and that it is unattended by riot or disorder. Mayor Powell writes from Brooklyn in a similar strain. Mayor Lincoln of Boston states that but three lines of horse roilroads in that city are run on Sunday, and that the general sentiment is adverse to the system of Sunday travel, but admits that no riotous proceedings have occurred.

Naval Intelligence.—The new steam gunboat Pawnee is to be launched at Philadelphia in a few days. She is the largest, and is expected to turn out the most superior of the seven gunboats ordered by Congress. She is 238 feet long, 47 feet wide, 1289 tons burden, and will carry six guns and about 100 persons. Her bottom, which is almost flat, is convex in form near the keel, while the bilge on the outer surface is on a level with the lower part of the keel.

A letter from the steamer Shubrick at Puget Sound, says that an apparatus has been invented on board of her for throwing boiled water on an enemy, a sort of torture that keeps the Indians at a very respectful distance.

Another Excursion.—Arrangements have been made by the Grand Trunk R. R. of Canada, the Dayton & Michigan, and Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton, for a pleasure excursion to Portland, Me., at which place parties will have an opportunity of seeing the steamship Great Eastern. The tickets, which will be good for three weeks, have been put at the low price of twenty dollars for the round trip. This is destined to be one of the great pleasure routes of the country, and a large number of people will undoubtedly avail themselves of this opportunity to go over the ground—particularly as the marine attraction of the age is expected to land at Portland between the 25th and 30th of this month.

The Great Alabama Will Case.—It is now ascertained that the will of the late Henry Lucas, of Montgomery county, Ala., now up for probate by change of name in the county of Lowndes, involves the disposition of $1,200,000. The witnesses, who are largely over a hundred, will still consume several days in the hearing. As might be expected, too, whatever be the decision of the Court of Probate, the counsel on both sides have expressed a determination to take the case up to the Supreme Court.

☞ The Nashua Gazette understands that it is the intention of Gen. Pierce to spend the winter, with his wife, at the Bermudas, a group of islands in the Atlantic, about six hundred miles east of the coast of South Carolina, where the thermometer scarcely varies more than four degrees during the year, ranging usually from 71 to 75 degrees.

The Pope and his Premier.—A private letter from Rome thus describes the Pope and his Premier:

> Day before yesterday I saw his Holiness. It was in his library at the Vatican. He takes snuff; has a fever sore on his leg, and does not stand or walk much; is 67 years old, very corpulent, and seems truly "to be touched with a feeling of our infirmities." He does not do much; is regarded as near his time, and Cardinals begin to look for his shoes. Antonelli, whose office at the Vatican is directly above the Pope's room, is really the Pope. He is a man 45 years of age, active, shrewd, clever, with a good address, and engaging manners, and works all the time, like a politician as he is. Temporal affairs occupy him solely; he knows and cares little for anything besides. Religion he leaves entirely to the professors of it.

A Broad Platform.—The Philanthropic Convention to meet in Buffalo on the 16th instant issues a comprehensive platform. Behold the lofty, Miltonic splendor of the diction—"inward fires of truth," etc.:

> Come, brothers and sisters, fathers and mothers, let us have three days of deliberate consultation in the spirit of love and good will to aid one another in the search for practical truth. We hold that the day for Free Conventions has dawned. The inward fires of truth and reason will flame forth from the summit of these volcanic mountains. They agitate and purify public opinion. A free convention is the mouthpiece of human liberty—the platform whence issues the mandates of unlimited progress. Spiritualists, Materialists, Jews, Christians, Reformers—all East, West, North, and South—will hereby consider themselves cordially invited.

☞ The Madison Courier of Wednesday evening has the following:

> Three rowdies from Louisville, named V. Smith, G. Schnell, and S. Rice, created a disturbance last night about 11 o'clock in the doggery of M. S. Smith, on Walnut street, at the head of Fifth street, during which the owner of the coffeehouse was badly if not fatally stabbed. Marshal Rodgers promptly arrested the Louisville trio, and lodged them in jail.

The Crusade against the Negroes—White Men Swearing for Black Ones—New Orleans Quadroons in Paris—How they were Treated—Scandal and Row in a Boarding-House.

New Orleans, Sept. 7, 1859.

The crusade against the free negroes continues. A large number have been arrested and warned to leave the State, those who are residents being allowed sixty days, and those just arrived only five. A great many, however, continue to seek refuge in slavery, and various other means are made use of to evade the law. Mr. Holmes, one of the proprietors of a large iron foundery here, had in his employ a bright, industrious, and honest mulatto, who had raised a family in New Orleans and did not wish to leave. He besought his employer, who is a warm-hearted and liberal man, to use his influence in his behalf, and Mr. H., after due inquiry, found that nothing could be done. There was but one alternative; the man must become a slave or leave the State. He was in much distress, but a day or two afterwards he met Mr. H., and in great glee exhibited a paper signed by the Recorder of the First District, certifying that the free, colored man Bob So-and-so was born in the State of Louisiana and entitled to residence therein.

"Why, Bob, how under heaven did you get this?" queried the astonished Mr. Holmes.

"Oh, you see, Massa, I went to a darky I's 'quainted wid, and he say, if I gib um fifty dollars he get me out dis scrape. So we go to de court, and I golly, two white men dis nigga nebber see 'fore in all he life came up and swar dey know Bob eber sence he born in New Orleans, long time ago. So I all right now—yah, yah, yah!"

Another case of this kind has come to light, in which the price of the perjury was $150, and it seems that a number of white rascals are making a regular business of the thing. There is, moreover, very little chance of their being caught and punished, as negro testimony cannot be taken against them, and it is generally difficult to prove the nativity of a negro born in another State.

To many persons it seems strange that free negroes or mulattoes who have accumulated property do not emigrate to those countries in which they can not only enjoy their wealth but secure through it a sort of respectability and social consideration. But it must be remembered that the tastes and sensibilities of the white and black races are altogether different. While, as a general thing, the white man will sacrifice everything to maintain his dignity, his standing in society, etc., the negro greatly prefers the kindness and good treatment of his superiors to their respect, and in no spot of the earth can he be better assured of receiving the former than in New Orleans. White men sometimes send their colored offspring to reside in London or Paris, and it may be that sometimes wealthy colored men emigrate thither, but I never yet have heard of a case of the latter.

Some years ago Mr. M., who had passed the meridian of life, amassed a large amount of property and become the father of three or four daughters by a mulatto woman with whom he cohabited, concluded to remove his interesting family to Paris, where he hoped the dusky maids might not only receive a finished French education but be received into fashionable society. He was not mistaken in his calculations. Either the rumors of the old gentleman's riches or the attractions of the yellow-skinned beauties, or both combined, drew about the latter a circle of eager admirers, and, had they been matrimonially inclined, they might have chosen from the very pinks of Parisian dandyism. Things went on swimmingly for a long time, and admiration of the beautiful quadroon beauties from New Orleans became a theme in the salons of Paris. But the mania of speculation seized upon the acquisitive old gentleman, the father of these prodigies of loveliness and representatives of uncounted gold upon the Bourse, he launched boldly into those great hazards that often create or swallow up a fortune in a single day.

The blind goddess was unpropitious, and before Mr. M. could fairly realize that he was in a vein of bad luck, his vast fortune had vanished like a noon-day dream, and he found himself almost penniless in the great metropolis of the Gauls, with his dowerless daughter on his hands. The consequences to the latter were decidedly unpleasant. Their friends, admirers, and adorers dropped off by the dozen, and in an exceedingly brief space of time they found themselves excluded from the exclusive circle in which money had been the motive power to keep them moving. They were, in fact, cut; society turned to them the cold shoulder, and those who had been most ardent in admiration and had rendered the most profound homage, now turned up the scornful nose and wondered at the presumption of aspiring darkeydom generally, and particularly of persons who could boast of nothing but their negro blood. Mr. M. hastily gathered up the remnant of his fortune and returned to this city, where his daughters (really fine girls, in a physical sense, I am told) will be compelled to content themselves with that position in the social scale assigned to persons of their class and complexion.

An extraordinary affair occurred one night recently in a large boarding house on Magazine street, resulting in a disturbance which startled the whole neighborhood. Mr. C. and his wife, it was said, did not sustain their marital relations with any degree of harmony, and the latter, complaining of the hot weather, spread a pallet on the floor, and deserted the marriage bed. Under this continent arrangement the parties got along very well for some time, until one night an unusual wakefulness seized upon the husband perhaps from the absence of his wife, perhaps at the instigation of the devil. A strange, rustling, muffled sort of sound attracted his ear in the silence of the middle watch, and, straining his eyesight to the utmost, he could almost swear that he saw through the gloom a dark form creep in at the open door of the room, and glide slowly along the floor to the mosquito bar that covered his unconscious and sleeping spouse. He listened breathlessly to catch the first note of the shrill cry of alarm with which she would, of course, greet the audacious intruder, and he did not listen in vain.

What he really did hear is of no consequence, but it alarmed and enraged him far more than any outcry could have done. He cautiously arose in his bed, and armed himself with the only weapon he could lay his hands on—the headboard, which he happened to know could be removed from its place between the posts—and then sprang at the couch on the floor, giving vent to a loud, explosive oath, and dealing a random blow at the mosquito bar in the same instant. The sleeping lady leaped up in alarm, just in time to receive a severe thump on the head, while a bodily shape of some sort, in very primitive costume, scudded through the room to the door, along the hall and down the stairs, with the infuriated husband, similarly attired, in close pursuit. Near the lower floor the stairs turn suddenly to the left, and in the angle on the right was a large window, opening into a room occupied by a single gentleman of good moral character, who, in consequence of the oppressive heat, had lifted his window as high as possible, drawn his bed directly alongside, and protected himself from curious eyes with a large curtain.

Through this window, and over the bed of the lodger, tearing away the curtain, the fugitive's momentum carried him like a thunderbolt, and he instinctively sought refuge directly under the startled sleeper, who, roused by the thundering sounds upon the stairs, and frightened by the fall of a heavy body across his bed, rose to a sitting posture, and as he did so he was saluted with a tremendous blow over his night capped sconce, which sent him reeling back upon his pillow and split in twain the head board wherewith it was dealt. Unfortunately a single blow, however terrible, was not sufficient to satisfy the injured husband, who naturally supposed he had encountered and cornered the trespasser upon his preserve, and he followed up the injurious assault with a shower of thumps and kicks, accompanied by an obligato of imprecations on the one side and cries and exclamations on the other. It is hardly necessary to describe what followed.

One can fancy what dire alarm and confusion must be created in a large house, full of people, by the silence of midnight being broken in this style—the sounds of a furious scuffle in an upper room, a headlong rush down the stairs, and then blows, curses, and cries of murder. It may be as well to state, however, that although the actual culprit slipped out amidst the tumult and regained his own room, he did not escape discovery, and the story of his flying leap down the stairs and through the window made him an object of such general attention that he sought another boarding house next day. Neither a duel nor a divorce suit has yet grown out of the affair, but I understand that the poor gentleman who slept at the foot of the stairs declined to occupy that room any longer, and commenced a prosecution against Mr. C. for damages in a round sum.

The Kentucky Institution for the Blind.—We make the following quotations from the report of the State Superintendent of Public Instruction. The Rev. Mr. Matthews has discharged with singular fidelity and ability his duties as Superintendent of Public Instruction, and we feel great regret in parting from him. His successor may consider himself fortunate if he retires from the office with as noble an official reputation as Mr. Matthews carries with him into retirement.

Mr. Matthews does nothing more than justice to the management of the school for the blind. The Educational Department and the house offices, we doubt not, are as faithfully managed as in any public institution in the world, and we question whether any trustees of a great educational establishment ever had less trouble than these have had in the sacred trust committed to them, nor have any been blessed with finer fruits than have been the annual results of the teaching of the blind in the Kentucky Institution. B. M. Patten has been the Superintendent of the school from its origin, and he has discharged all of his high and varied duties throughout the career of the institution to the entire satisfaction of the various trustees that have had charge of the school.

We earnestly hope that the judicious and excellent suggestions of the Rev. Mr. Matthews will attract the attention of members of the Legislature and of the public authorities, and command their cordial approval and aid:

State Institution for the Blind.—I visited this flourishing State Institution in the month of February, and found it very much improved in its outward appearance and in the accommodations it offers for this class of unfortunate youth.

The improvement in the various departments of the institution, since its removal to its present location, is apparent even to the most casual observer.

The site, which was selected with great care by the State authorities, is, in all respects, admirably adapted to the purposes of the institution. The grounds are extensive and beautiful, and on the highest elevation in the vicinity of Louisville. They have been properly graded and handsomely laid out by the superintendent, and ornamented with hundreds of fruit and shade trees, which will, in a few years, add greatly to the beauty of the place and to the comfort and health of the pupils.

The edifice, the plan of which was made in accordance with legislative enactments and approved by Gov. Powell, fulfills the highest anticipations of the officers of the institution and reflects great credit upon all concerned in securing the adoption of the plan and the erection of the building. It is in all its parts remarkably well adapted to the purpose for which it was designed, and commands the approval and admiration of all competent persons who have examined it.

Of the school itself I am able after several visits to speak in the most favorable terms. It is well organized and judiciously managed in all its departments. The pupils are remarkably fortunate in having so able and kind and devoted a Principal and competent teachers wholly absorbed in their improvement and happiness.

These unfortunate but interesting children and youth who are deprived of one of the most important inlets of knowledge and pleasure, here find happiness in the exercise of their faculties in the acquisition of knowledge, and in preparing themselves to become useful and independent members of society. The bounty of the State is here well bestowed, and the grateful recipients will ere long repay to the public a hundred fold all that they are now receiving.

The trustees of the institution have been selected with the greatest care by the Board of Education, and I am perfectly satisfied that the interests of the institution could not have been intrusted to a more able and faithful board. They exercise at all times a paternal care over the institution; and to their faithful, arduous, and unrequited labors the school is, under a kind Providence, greatly indebted for the high degree of prosperity which it now enjoys.

Cruelty at Sea.—Our Portland correspondent gives an interesting account of the final proceedings in the United States Circuit Court, in the case of Captain John A. Holmes, master of the ship Therese, convicted last year of the murder of Geo. W. Chadwick, one of the crew. The circumstances of this painful case were fully stated in the Courier at the time of the trial. The defence was insanity, which does not appear to have had any other foundation than was derivable from the brutal ferocity of the beating, which was continued until Chadwick was dead. It appeared from the evidence that Chadwick had twice given offence to the prisoner—first, that he, with others of the crew, did not sing one night, when hauling at a lee brace; second, that he did not use the word "sir" in answering a question. In this case the prisoner struck Chadwick over the head with a belaying pin repeatedly, and finally knocked him down with it. He was next stripped, and tied up to the main rigging by the prisoner's orders, and flogged with a knotted stranyarn, by one man after another, for 20 minutes. When the men did not strike hard enough or struck unskillfully, the prisoner would take the rope himself and strike the deceased for the purpose of showing the men how to do it.

The deceased repeatedly cried for mercy, and asked to be allowed to die in peace. These outcries the prisoner silenced by striking the deceased with a belaying-pin. While still alive he was taken down and helped into the forecastle, but in ten minutes afterwards was brought back and tied up a second time, and the flogging was resumed, the prisoner telling the men to strike harder. Again, for the purpose of stopping the outcries of the deceased, not to kill him, the prisoner commenced striking him again with the belaying-pin till a blow on the neck killed him, and when his corpse slewed round dead the prisoner ceased to strike.

Before sentence was passed upon him on Thursday, at Portland, Capt. Holmes addressed the Court in some remarks, in the course of which he said:

"I most solemnly declare that I am wholly innocent and unconscious of having committed the crime of which I now stand convicted. I have not now nor ever have had any knowledge whatever of the act imputed to me; nor can I charge myself in any way with the slightest responsibility in connection with it. God knows I am innocent of this great crime, and I protest before Him that I am not the inhuman monster I am represented."

Judge Ware then addressed some remarks to the prisoner, after which Judge Clifford passed sentence upon him as follows:

"John A. Holmes—All the proceedings in your case having been fully examined and found to be correct, as appears as of record, nothing remains to be done except to say that you now stand legally convicted of the murder of George W. Chadwick upon the high seas, as alleged in the indictment, and to pronounce the final sentence of the law, which is as follows: It is considered by the Court that you be deemed, taken and adjudged to be a pirate and felon, and that you be taken back to the place from whence you came, and there remain in close confinement until Friday, the 25th day of November next; and on that day, between the hours of eleven o'clock in the forenoon and one o'clock in the afternoon, you be taken thence to the place of execution, and that you be there hanged by the neck until you are dead. And may God have mercy on your soul."

During the remarks of Judge Ware, and while Judge Clifford was pronouncing the sentence, the prisoner stood up calm and immovable.

Death of Col. John Duvall.—Col. John Duvall died at Stamping Ground on the 7th instant in the 77th year of his age. He was born in Prince George's county, Maryland, and with his father emigrated to Kentucky in 1789. He settled in Scott county in 1791, where he resided up to the time of his death, embracing a period of over 68 years. In the late war with Great Britain he was captain, and commanded a company of Kentucky militia, served a campaign under General Harrison on the Northwestern frontier in 1813, and participated in the dangers and sufferings of the siege of Fort Meigs.

Col. Duvall represented Scott county in the Kentucky Legislature in 1827-28, besides having filled various other civil offices. The discharge of his public duties was always marked by the strictest integrity and fidelity.—Georgetown Journal.

A New French Discovery.—The French journals announce a discovery. It is an artificial light, so wonderfully luminous and steady as to supply the effect of the most brilliant noontide sun in all photographic operations. The light being contained in a portable apparatus, portraits can be taken at private residences, even in the darkest room, wholly independent of the state of the atmosphere; and those parts of cathedrals, or other picturesque architectural monuments, where the light of the sun never penetrates, and which, in consequence, have been, until now, wholly shut out from the photographer, will be as accessible to the artist as any part of the exterior.

Burglary of $6,000 Worth of Silks.—On Thursday night last the dry goods store of Solomon and Emanuel Strauss was entered by burglars. The thieves succeeded in carrying off a very large quantity of silks, satins, cloths, velvets, and other goods, to the value of nearly $6,000. On Saturday morning Captain Walling entered the apartments of Adolph Bein and found the property secreted. Bein was arrested, and Emil Hyman and Morris Haschbein, coming in shortly after, were also taken into custody.—N. Y. Tribune.
